PA NEWC OBSERVES

The drooning of an airplane was heard over the city Tuesday afternoon about 3:30, just about the time that the snow storm was the heaviest. Despite the blinding storm the plane did not stop at the local port but continued on its way. According to pilots at the local port it is quite unusual for an airplane to be up in that kind of weather.

End Testimony In Thirty Year Old Murder Case

Esposito's Fate Will Probably Be Decided By Jury This Afternoon

ARGUMENTS MADE DURING MORNING

Judge's Charge Given At Afternoon Session— Esposito Denies Crime

During the afternoon the jury should have the case of the Commonwealth against Rocco Esposito for the murder of Francesco Romeo on October 7, 1906. At the noon recess which came at 12:30, both the commonwealth and the defense had argued the case to the jury and Judge W. Walter Braham started his charge before 2 o'clock.

The defense closed its case at 10:55 this morning. Rocco Esposito the defendant was on from the opening of court until that time on cross examination. Repeated efforts upon the part of the district attorney Mont L. Ailey to break his story down proved futile. Esposito admitted that he had changed his name from Rocco Esposito to Rocco Strange, and admitted going to Belguim after working in various states of the Union after leaving New Castle in October 1906.

Moretti Argues First

Attorney Frank Moretti who has had charge of Esposito's defense made the first argument to the jury. It was Moretti's first major case in criminal court but his lack of previous experience was not apparent in his argument.

Moretti was not long in summing up his case to the jury. "The commonwealth has not proved Rocco Esposito's guilt or even his presence in New Castle at the time of the crime" said he. "Of course he changed his name, that was a common practice among young Italian immigrants. Of course he left New Castle when Joe Cutrone threaten-

Rev. James Guthrie Is Accepting Call To Oneonta, N. Y.

East Brook-Neshannock U. P. Pastor Leaving Here On March 31

Rev. James M. Guthrie, young pastor of the East Brook and Neshannock U. P. churches, will accept the call extended by the First U. P. church of Oneonta, N. Y., he said today and will take up his work in the new pastorate on the first of the month.

Rev. Guthrie originally from St. Clairsville, O., has been pastor of the local charge for five years ever since his graduation from Pittsburgh-Xenia Theological Seminary and during that time has won a great many friends in this section. He was instrumental in building up the young people's work of Mercer Presbytery, serving that body as young people's superintendent.

Three weeks ago Rev. Guthrie delivered a sermon at the Oneonta church and he was liked so well that the congregation asked him to become pastor. Their formal written call was received yesterday by mail, and Rev. Guthrie will accept in order to serve a larger field.

He and his wife will move from their East Brook parsonage March 31 and with them will go the good wishes of the entire community.

Both the Guthries are graduates of Westminster College, Mrs. Guthrie being the former Elizabeth Work. During Rev. Guthrie's student days he served as stated supply at the Mahoning U. P. church.

Bizarre "Love Club" Revealed By Murder Of Canton Woman

(International News Service)

CANTON, O., March 17.—A select coterie of Ohio business men were on tenterhooks today following the disclosure of a bizarre "love club" by police probing the baffling murder of Mrs. Rose Cable.

Authorities were still debating the advisability of making public the names of the men who maintained a co-operative love nest in the Akron apartment maintained by Deuber S. Cable, husband of the slain woman, for Theresa Ludwig, 45-year-old divorcee.

Disclosure of the names would create a scandal such as Canton has not known in years, and might all but wreck half a dozen families.

May Not Reveal Names

The one reassurance for the men involved was that Prosecutor A. C. L. Barthelmeh is averse to revealing their identities unless the "love club" can be shown to figure significantly in the shotgun killing of Mrs. Cable.

At least five or possibly six men were "members" of this club, police said, and all are family men highly respected in their communities.

Prosecutor Barthelmeh took the view that unnecessary disclosure of their names would only bring suf-

Anniversary Finds Flood Prevention Plans In Progress

By DICK SHANER
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PITTSBURGH, March 17.—St. Patrick's Day, 1936—just a year ago today—Pennsylvanians were in a sorry state. It had been raining for days. There was nothing unusual about that. But on that day, the snow-packed mountains began to shed. Superfluous water raced down hills and gulleys.

Creeks suddenly surged upwards and assumed amazing proportions. Rivers, fed by choked and overburdened divulets, suddenly swept past all bounds and spread havoc and destruction over wide areas. Weather bureaus could only forecast "the rivers will continue to rise." There was no letup in sight.

One by one, river communities succumbed to swirling, murky waters. To many, it was an incomprehensible menace. Flood was something new to them. They grew apprehensive. But the rivers heaved upward and struck new records.

Many Cities Hit

Pittsburgh's "golden triangle" went down and under in a sea of mud and debris. Johnstown strangled under 25 feet of icy water—its second major flood. Tyrone was miserable and helpless under an eight foot lake. Lewistown felt the

Detroit Hotel Tieup Is Ended

Big Hotels Operating On Normal Basis Again This Morning

SETTLEMENT MADE TUESDAY NIGHT

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN,
International News Service Staff Correspondent

DETROIT, March 17—With the hotel strike settled, public attention shifted today to the question of whether the "sit-downers" holding possession of the eight automobile plants of Chrysler corporation would comply with a court injunction ordering them to evacuate the factories.

Settlement of the labor flare-up that closed four of Detroit's leading hotels the Statler, Book-Cadillac, Detroit-Leland and Fort Shelby—was a feather in Governor Murphy's hat. He made a hurried trip here from Lansing to settle the issue, and he made a quick job of it.

A peace agreement ending the hotel strikes was reached at Governor Murphy's conference with union leaders and the managements last night. The pact provided for the setting up within 48 hours of an arbitration board of three members to iron out the difficulties.

One member of the board was to be appointed by the managements, one by the unions and the third by Governor Murphy. The governor promptly appointed Mayor Frank Couzens of Detroit. The other two members had not been selected early today.

Service in the four hotels reopened this morning. Guests who had checked out were checking back in. They had gone to smaller hotels elsewhere in the city The shuttling back and forth was taken more or less good-naturedly although there was some grumbling on the part of the inconvenienced visitors.

Annual Membership Ingathering Comes To Successful Close Last Night

INCOMPLETE TOTAL REPORTED IS 959

Expect 1,000 Mark To Be Reached When All Returns Are Turned In

An exceptionally fine spirit of cooperation displayed by the women of the churches brought about the most successful membership ingathering the New Castle Y. W. C. A. has ever had.

At last night's final meeting of the workers—truly a victory dinner—this was the very splendid report given:

Members—959.
Dues—$1,319.50.

Many of the workers, because of illness or absence from the city, were unable to submit their reports at last night's meeting and it is believed that when these returns come in the membership total will be at the 1,000 mark.

Not since the Y. W. C. A. was organized in New Castle have there been so many members. The success of the past week reflects a great deal of credit upon the chairman, Mrs. Charles T. Metzler and Mrs. W. R. Hanna, and all of the team captains and workers.

Credit Church Women

The workers themselves, however, give the credit to all the church women in New Castle who so generously answered the call broadcast from all the pulpits at the beginning of the campaign last Sunday. It was a most encouraging expression of confidence in the program and purpose of the Young Women's Christian Association.

Last night's dinner-meeting opened at 6:15 p. m. in the Green Room of the Y. W. C. A. building.

Commonwealth May Seek New Trial Judge For Other Somerset Cases

(BULLETIN)
(International News Service)

SOMERSET, Pa., March 17.—Removal of Supreme Court Justice George W. Maxey as trial judge in the remaining Fayette County "third degree" cases will be sought by the commonwealth as a result of his action in freeing State Trooper Anthony Sanute, it was learned today.

Attorney General Charles J. Margiotti, special prosecutor, declined to comment for the present but it was learned he had conferred with his associates on the question.

Three Avenues Open

Three possible avenues of removal were open: Justice Maxey could be recalled by his colleagues on the state supreme court bench; he could be made the subject of impeachment proceedings in the legislature; and Gov. George H. Earle could remove him from office on recommendation of two-thirds of the house and senate.

Justice Maxey freed Sanute of a charge of participating in the alleged "third degree" killing of Frank C. Monaghan, 64, Uniontown hotelkeeper, by a directed verdict of acquittal. The jury had been locked up 26 hours and had deliberated about 15.

Court was adjourned until April 19 by Justice Maxey after his unprecented action. Margiotti an-

Miss Benson is being tried on 30 counts of an indictment charging false entries.

In charging the jury in the Benton case, Judge Gibson ordered a verdict of not guilty on the fifth count of the bill involving a false entry.

Supreme Court Justice McReynolds Amazes With Court Comment

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, March 17. — Official Washington as well as the whole judiciary and legal profession in the country were flabbergasted today over associate supreme court justice James C. McReynolds' open denunciation of President Roosevelt's judicial reform program.

Not only did the justice break the traditional silence of supreme court members on national controversies that has been followed for fifty years, and say the court in the American form of government "is like the balance wheel of a watch; take it out and the works will not function" but he called upon Mr. Roosevelt to be "a good loser."

In this connection he said good sportsmanship demands that when a person has presented his case to a fair tribunal and lost, he should be a good sport and say, "this is my country."

Justice McReynolds is 75 and one of the members of the court Mr. Roosevelt wants to counteract

Naval Funeral Service Planned

Rear Admiral Richmond Pearson Hobson, Spanish War Hero, Burial Thursday

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, March 17.—Naval funeral services at Arlington National Cemetery tomorrow afternoon were arranged today for Rear Admiral Richmond Pearson Hobson, Spanish-American War hero, who died suddenly at his home here at the age of 66.

Hobson, then a 28-year-old naval lieutenant, won wide fame by his attempt to bottle up the fleet of Admiral Cervera in the harbor of Santiago, Cuba, by sinking the collier Merrimac at the mouth of the harbor. With seven seamen, Hobson, on the morning of June 2, 1898, took the Merrimac toward the position selected for sinking her, but was discovered by the Spaniards who torpedoed the boat at a point where it failed to block the outlet of their warships.

Hobson and his men took to a raft, were captured and imprisoned in a fortress at Santiago, where they were held until July 6, then being exchanged for Spanish prisoners.

After he resigned from the navy in 1903, Hobson interested himself in public affairs, and served in congress from 1907 to 1915 from his native Alabama. At the time of his death he was president of the World Conference on Narcotic Education, a leading foe of the drug evil.

Report Hundreds Wounded In Communist-Fascist Outbreak At Clichy

RAINFALL PROBABLY HALTS NEW OUTBREAK

By KENNETH T. DOWNS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PARIS, March 17.—With five officially reported dead and hundreds wounded in savage, communist-fascist riots at Clichy, France faced a grave political situation today.

Government officials began a day of feverish activity, while the nation's population wondered whether more serious unrest was in store, or whether Socialist Premier Leon Blum would prove strong enough to restore calm.

Police and Mobile guards remained in possession of last night's battle field to prevent communists from attempting further disorders this morning.

Rain Halts Riots

Renewed riots were believed doubtful, however, because of a povidential drizzle of rain—an element which usually keeps Paris hotheads indoors—and the hundreds of aching heads among participants in the fighting last night.

But in government and chamber of deputies circles, great activity and excitement prevailed. Premier

DETROIT, March 17.—Governor Frank Murphy today denied as he opened his "law and order" conference with his committee of twenty that he is preparing to institute martial law as a result of the Detroit sit-down strikes. He declared he proposes to use power to enforce respect for public authority "with proper vigor, if the need arises."

Plants Not Vacated

Detroit, March 17.—Defying a court injunction, sit-down strikers today still held possession of the eight plants of the Chrysler Corporation, refusing to obey the order of Circuit Judge Allan Campbell that they vacate the factories by 9 o'clock this morning.

There was no undue excitement as the "deadline" passed although the picket lines outside the plants were increased and there were more than the usual number of spectators in the vicinity of them.

The strikers have been in possession of the plants since a week ago last Monday.

Force Further Action

Their defiance of the injunction will force Chrysler attorneys to go into court again and obtain body attachments if they want to clear the plants.

Taylor Company Suffers Fire Loss Of $200,000; 165 Forced Out Of Work

(International News Service)

BRADFORD, Pa., March 17.—Whipped by a strong, shifty wind, fire shortly before midnight destroyed the plant of the Taylor Aircraft Company here with a loss estimated at $200,000 and threw 165 men out of work.

The flames shot high in the air when 25 explosions followed one another in various parts of the factory as five gallon cans of a special type of paint used to treat fuselages blew up.

A score of employes on the night shift wheeled 15 almost completed planes to safety. No one was hurt.

The fire was believed to have started in the paint shop. Current production at the plant was 18 planes a week. Ted V. Weld, the president, declined to state immediately whether the plant will be rebuilt.

THREE BOY COASTERS KILLED

Sled Riders Hit Truck On Hill

Accident Occurs On Burgettstown — Midway Highway Last Night

THREE BOYS WERE RIDING ONE SLED

(International News Service)

MIDWAY, Pa., March 17 — Three Midway boys were dead today, crushed beneath a truck into which they had sped their sled.

The accident occurred at the foot of French Hill, on the Burgettstown-Midway highway here, in Washington county.

Two of the dead were brothers, George, 17, and John Bakulich, 15. The third was Vernon A. Beatty, 15.

The driver of the truck, John Antonette, 26, of Bulger, Pa., was being held by police for appearance before the Washington county coroner. Antonette told police he noticed the boys, the two younger boys astride of George, and slowed down when he did so. The sled, however, he declared, according to police, ran into his truck before he could stop it.

The Beatty boy was the only son of Mr. and Mrs. James Beatty. The two Bakulich brothers were sons of Mr. and Mrs. John Bakulich. There are six other children in the family.

through his proposal to enlarge the court from nine to 15 members. He is one of the conservative members.

He made his remarks at the eighty-eighth annual founders' day banquet here of the Phi Delta Theta fraternity to which he was admitted at Vanderbilt University 55 years ago. Less than 100 members heard him speak.

Good Sportsmanship

Both the opposition and supporters of the proposed court reforms admitted that the justice's remarks about "good sportsmanship" were directed at the president's open resentment over the court's action in invalidating the NRA, the AAA and other New Deal recovery measures.

When the recovery act was knocked out in the Schlechter chicken case, they recalled, Mr. Roosevelt stated the decision returned the country to "the horse-and-buggy days."

Justice McReynolds told his listeners that "the courts decide only the things that are submitted to them." Apparently referring to the incompetency of some members of the federal judiciary he said:

"The courts are not responsible for those derelicts. The Constitution delegates that power to another."

"We're in a troublesome world—a strange common unrest—a strange disposition to forget that great injunction to prove all things," he said in his opening remarks.

"There is a strange restlessness, a strange desire to break away from that which is proved—to rule or ruin."

He made a strong defense of the supreme court on which he has served since 1914. All through these years he said he has tried to protect the poorest darky in the Georgia backwoods as well as the man in the mansion of Fifth Avenue and I have the same obligation to the man in the mansion on Fifth Avenue as to the humblest man in any walk of life."

effects of sloshing waves, as did Huntingdon and Mount Union. On the Susquehanna, it was high water from Williamsport through Sunbury and Harrisburg down to the bay. The eastern border of the state was floundering in the waters of the Delaware, Schuylkill and Lehigh. The western end was submerged by the Allegheny and Monongahela rivers.

There was nothing but death, destruction and pitiful pleas for aid. Nothing but wretched souls suffering untold miseries. Nothing but lightless, heatless homes where many huddled on second floors, driven there by raging waters. No food...nothing but drenched clothing and rain...

That was St. Patrick's Day, 1936.

Out of that disastrous flood came a plea...a plea of supplication by an united people. "Give us protection. Don't let this happen again."

One Year Later

St. Patrick's Day, 1937—Today. There is no flood, no reminiscent scenes of last year's watery upheaval. Business is booming. Homes have been repaired. People have been rehabilitated. They are happy and light of heart. The horrors of floods are gone.

Throughout the state groups of men are working....preparing for an eventual reoccurrence of damaging high waters. It must be prevented, they say.

Congress acted first in a concerted move to protect flood zones. The Omnibus flood control act was passed June 22, 1936. It provided for construction of a series of flood-control reservoirs. The government would pay for preliminary surveys and actual construction costs. But the states must cooperate.

Pennsylvania did. The legislature invested power and eminent domain in "the water and power resource board." It appropriated $200,000 for preliminary work. It prepared to do its share. The state must acquire the land for proposed dam sites and pay all property damage claims, the Omnibus bill read.

To do this, Governor George H. Earle asked the legislature to appropriate $5,000,000 to start the work. The Weiss-Lopresti bill answering that request was introduced. It has passed the house and is now in the senate appropriations committee. Another bill, a $50,000,000 flood control bond issue is in a house committee. It is predicted upon the present estimate of what the complete flood control projects will eventually cost. It must pass two subsequent sessions of the legislature and then be voted upon by the people. It will probably reach them about 1939.

In the field, United States army engineers are working, 1,200 strong. Surveys are being made, topography studied, soil analyzed. Dams are being designed. Some are far enough advanced so that construction will begin immediately after congress appropriates funds.

By mid-summer actual work is expected to be stared on two and possibly three proposed sites, the Crooked Creek, Tionesta and Mahoning Creek reservoirs. Seven others will be built on the Monangahela and Allegheny rivers and tributaries. They include the Red Bank Creek, French Creek, Conemaugh river, Loyalhanna river and West Fork Creek. A series of dams are proposed for east of Johnstown to protect that city.

In the weather bureau departments, things appear much better. Handicapped last year by lack of equipment and adequate facilities, the bureaus are in much better shape. More men are in the field. Gauging stations are more numerous. Reports are more accurate. In the west additional reporting stations were opened at Somerset, Ebensburg, Confluence and Blairsville to supplement the Johnstown station. It was the first change made in that area in 62 years.

FIVE ARE KILLED IN FRENCH RIOT

Blum began immediate consultations with Minister of the Interior O'Armoy and other officials and a cabinet meeting was scheduled for this afternoon.

It was understood communist deputies intended to demand an immediate explanation in the chamber as to why police fired on the riotous crowds. O'Armoy was expected to issue a communique shortly.

Cabinet Shakeup Likely

Drastic shake-up of the Blum cabinet appeared a possibility, as an official investigation of the outbreak was opened by the public prosecutor's office. The Rightist newspapers Echo De Paris jubilantly proclaimed:

"The popular front is finished!"

The Clichy battle began when police and Mobile guards fought off 10,000 communists who attempted to break up a meeting of the French Social party, Fascist political organization led by Col. Francois De La Rocque, founder of the dissolved Fascist Crois De Feu.

The fighting, staged in the so-called Paris red belt, was the first serious outburst during the Blum regime. Bullets, bottles and other missiles whizzed through the air at the height of the fight. About 750 were injured, 150 seriously enough to require hospital treatment. Several of the wounded were expected to die. Twenty were reported under arrest.

Capacity of the new Beaujon hospital was taxed to the utmost to care for the injured, many of whom were women.

The outbreak left authorities in a high state of apprehension lest the smashing of Blum's political truce—the riots were the first serious outbreak in his regime—would lead to further violence later.

TAKEN TO HOSPITAL

Mary Dematteo, aged 19, of 922 South Mercer street, is in the New Castle hospital for medical treatment.

ARM INJURED

Mrs. Sarah McClafferty of 126 Long avenue is in the New Castle hospital because of an arm injury suffered in a fall.

Spring tones predominated in the decorations, and unique Easter favors, given as tokens of the afternoon, indicated places for each. Games of various kinds filled in the leisure hours that ensued, bringing another delightful event to a close.

WORTHY MATRON HAS PARTY FOR OFFICERS

One of the loveliest parties for officers of Chapter No. 105, Order of the Eastern Star, was that given Tuesday evening in the Elks club rooms by their worthy matron, Mrs. Margaret Whieldon, which took the form of a 7 o'clock dinner. Worthy patron William T. Reed and wife were among the special guests who participated.

The banquet table was artistically decorated with tall slender burning tapers, forming the centerpiece. Individual favors that aroused much comment were miniature china dolls carrying baskets filled with fresh sweet peas, further featuring the pastel color theme. Place cards, used later for bridge tallies, were distinctive, hand painted Florida scenes.

After the elaborate full course menu had been served, attention was centered on their most gracious hostess, Mrs. Whieldon, as Mrs. Florence Campbell presented her with a lovely gift in behalf of the officers, taking her by surprise.

Bridge filled in the remaining hours, with Louise Davies and Dorothy Long taking home the lovely top score awards, and concluded the third party given by Mrs. Whieldon during her year as worthy matron of the chapter.

Hadassah Cabaret Dance At Field Club Attracts Many

Bringing to a climax the arduous endeavors of the Fund Raising committee of New Castle Chapter of Hadassah, was the Hadassah Doner dance held in cabaret style Tuesday evening at the New Castle Field club, which attracted a capacity crowd of several hundred guests from here, and surrounding vicinities.

The occasion occupies a unique place in the local calendar of social functions, bringing together all friends of Hadassah who indicate their support of a medical work and youth laiyah program, sponsored by Hadassah in America, for Hadassah in Palestine.

For the many who were present, no effort was spared to provide a very memorable evening, made outstanding for its happy spirit. There was dancing in the ballroom to the music of a fine local orchestra; cards in the card room and an artistic floor show, presented towards the latter half of the evening, claiming attention of all the spectators.

Those who were featured were Augustine Leon in a specialty tap number; Ruth Wilkison in a toe strut, and an Oriental Cymbal dance and Catherine Hartsuff in an acrobatic waltz. Miss Hartsuff later appeared with Andy Mazur in an adogio number. For the finale, the group joined in a tap routine. The performers were in costume, and lent much to the success of the evening.

A lovely table lamp in white, donated by Jake Marlin, was won by Mrs. Jack Gerson, during the evening.

Arrangements for the donor dance were in the hands of Mrs. Jack Kulkin, chairman in general, who had as co-chairmen, included Mrs. Edward Master and Mrs. Sam Rose; secretary of committee was Mrs. B. Moresky. The tables, centered with bouquets of flowers, were arranged by Mrs. Irvin Grossman; young helpers were aided by Mrs. Jack Conn; dance program, Mrs. A. Fisher; card room, Mrs. L. Zieve and Mrs. D. Frank; refreshments, Mrs. S. Wolfe, with Mrs. Percy Alpern and Mrs. H. Waldman, assisting; admissions, Mrs. M. Newmark and Mrs. D. Tobin; patrons and advertisements were in charge of Mrs. L. F. Kohn, who had as aides, the following, Mrs. D. Tobin, L. Groden, M. Newmark, S. Rose, J. Silverman, Jack Hershman, Jennie Levin, J. Cobb, Philip Levine, S. Rosen, R. Rubenson, H. Pitnoff and A. Shaprio.

Working in conjunction with the dance committee was the Hospital Building Fund committee, interested in securing contributions for the Rothschild University hospital, now being erected in Jerusalem. The chairman of this group, Mrs. Eliah Kaplan, was ably assisted by vice-chairman, Mrs. M. Davis, and aides, Mrs. Nathan Ginsberg, Mrs. H. Plant, Mrs. Gerald Zieve and Mrs. S. Skole.

In addition to being one of the most brilliant affairs of the season, it was especially noted that it provided a spectacular fashion revue, the women having donned their smartest creations, lending an array of color to the picturesque ball room decorated espcially for the event.

NE-CA-HO NURSES HAS EVENING EVENT

Most delightful, was the gathering of the Ne-Ca-Ho-Nurses club members, in the new home of Marie Grotofend, North Beaver street, Tuesday evening, when she entertained jointly with Mary Carr, as co-hostess. The former just recently moved to her present address from the Harbor road, and last night's event provided a medium of celebrating this fact, and also the birthday anniversary of Miss Grotofend. She received a shower of dainty hankies, as mementoes.

Cards filled in the time for several of the group, with prizes going to Kathryn Shaffer and Frances Hood. In bingo, Leola Cutler and Esther Reynolds were the fortunate winners. Two special guests sharing, included Irene Jinks and Mary Elizabeth Fee.

Seated about a beautifully decorated table, appointments being carried out in green and white, the guests were served a delicious repast. A bouquet of Spring flowers adorned the center, and novel individual candy St. Patrick favors marked each place. An informal period of conversation, concluded the evening.

SERVICE STAR LEGION AT STURDY RESIDENCE

Mrs. Anna Sturdy, North Mercer street, received the Service Star Legion members in her home Tuesday evening, for a business and social event combined. Bingo featured, with Mrs. Elezabeth Miller and Mrs. Ruth Titus, receiving the prizes.

A delicious lunch was later enjoyed, the hostess having as her aides, her granddaughter, Ruth Eileen Sturdy. St. Patrick appointments prevailed.

The next regular assembly on April 6 will be held at the Legion Home.

News of the engagement of Rev. James D. Brown, young missionary who was sent to India just a few weeks ago by the congregation of the Third United Presbyterian church, to Miss Virginia Liggett of Philadelphia, Pa., was revealed by Rev. Rev. Brown's betrothed is at the present time in Egypt where she is serving as a short-term missionary. The couple is to be married in the fall.

The news was heard last night by a crowd of 70 members and guests of the missionary society. Once a year they get together for a strictly social evening and this was perhaps the nicest of all. The banquet menu was served by the social committee, Mrs. Edward Ryan chairman, and the program was in charge of Mrs. Clare Lutz.

Included in the entertainment were trio numbers by Charlene Bates, Mary Louise Meehan and David Galasse, a play by a group from Mrs. G. H. Colnot's class, piano numbers by Marian Hughes and Sara Theophilus, readings by Betty and Clarabel Cope, and a harmonica solo by Bobby Lutz.

During the business meeting, in charge of the retiring president, Mrs. C. C. McKibben, the following new members were welcomed to the society, Mrs. Gomer Emery, Mrs. Donald Moore, Mrs. Bert Book, Mrs Bertha Ort, Mrs. Ross of Mayland avenue and Mrs. Jones, 1601 Huron avenue, and the following new officers were elected:

The next meeting will be on the third Tuesday of April.

Games of various types helped to while away the afternoon hours in a most pleasant manner. Plans were completed for a chicken dinner, to be held on March 29.

TESTING AUTO DRIVERS

DETROIT is handling its traffic accident problem in a scientific manner. It is doing what a great many people think ought to be done in an effort to solve this pressing problem. In other words, the Detroit authorities are seeking to get at the facts which underlie it as a guide to a solution. A newspaper story tells how it is being done, as follows:

"A few days ago 19 men were convicted in Detroit courts of either drunken or reckless driving. Later, the men convicted were examined in the court's psycopathic clinic. As a result of the examination, it developed that eight of the 19 had defective vision; two had in the past sustained serious head injuries; one had a temperament that inclined toward hysteria; two suffered from a pronounced mental disease and two others were on the verge of insanity. A further reclassification showed that four of the 19 men were chronic alcoholics. Four had what the clinic experts term "deficient depth perception," which means that whenever they went speeding past another car they were likely to come too close and collide."

The physician who conducted the examinations pointed out that all the defects noticed must have been apparent to all the relatives and friends of the persons examined. He commented to the effect that no complaints had been filed and that they had secured driver's licenses as a matter of course.

AS MAINE GOES!

As Maine goes so goes—Maine. That rock-bound state insisted on being different in the last election and she is going to stay different even in the matter of election dates.

With a display of determined rugged states rights the Maine House defeats a measure to change the state election from September to the November date which prevails throughout the remainder of the Union. And just to prove that economic interests determine politics, representatives fought the change on the ground that hundreds of thousands of dollars are brought into the state on the publicity from Maine's electoral peculiarity.

Maine's publicity was built in part on the famous Slogan, "As Maine goes, so goes the nation." But that catch-phrase was much tattered in last year's bombardment of ballots and can never again be as persuasive as before. Its continued use cannot be counted on to attract tourists to the "murmuring pines and the hemlocks" along the rock-bound coast, suggests the Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Maine's hardy legislators will console themselves with the thought that they stuck to tradition despite the pleas of the author of the bill, Florence Thurston. A woman may change her mind, but M ine won't change election day.

DR. CONANT'S WISE WARNING

The outspoken opposition of Dr. Conant, president of Harvard, to the Administration's plan for forcing changes in the membership of the Supreme Court possesses double significance. His open letter to the Massachusetts Senators is his first public statement of this nature since he became head of Harvard nearly four years ago. And he says he personally prefers the interpretations of the Constitution as written by the minority of the present Court.

So it is evident that Dr. Conant speaks without prejudice. It is as a liberal that he emphasizes the threat to the people's rights inherent in the President's proposal. Once the rule is establishd that the party in power may remodel the Supreme Court to affect decisions on the constitutionality of acts of Congress, how long will it be, he asks, "before some Administration will pack the Court to affect decisions on the issue of liberty itself?"

The Court, as Dr. Conant says, has a long and honorable record as a protector of popular rights. Its sole duty is to interpret the Constitution as it stands. If the people wish to widen the scope of Federal authority beyond present constitutional inhibitions they can do so through the medium of an amendment. To attempt to accomplish this aim through rapid-fire legislation seems to Dr. Conant "dangerous in the extreme."

This eminent educator and student of public questions can perceive no emergency justifying any earlier action than could be effected through adoption of a new amendment. But he is fearful lest the country proceed under the banner of emergency legislation "down a road which leads to the abolition of democratic government."

Dr. Conant's wise words should be heeded especially by those Senators and Representatives who profess liberal doctrines. For the President's proposal is more potential of dictatorship than of true liberalism. —Philadelphia Inquirer.

I KNOW a man who traveled around the world for two years and visited 37 countries. . . . When he came home I couldn't get anything out of him except facts about the food he ate in th's place and that. . . . But food IS important.

I like the lovely reflections that neon lights make on wet, black streets at night. . . . No painter ever put that on canvas to his heart's content.

I don't believe wet feet can give you a cold.

I'm never bored as long as there's something near to read, even if it's a ten-year-old newspaper. . . . Or perhaps, especially if it IS only a ten-year-old newspaper. Old news comes pleasantly alive; all the old horror, shock, anger, uncertainty and other strong emotions fall into historical perspective against the moving back-drop of time.

Imagination has wonderful powers. . . . But I defy anyone who has not experienced it to imagine that strange drained-out languor that follows an attack of the "flu".

I saw seven youngsters playing marbles the other day. . . . And despite all I could do to prevent it, it occurred to me that none of them were as good shots as WE were 30 years ago.

As a man grows older, he is inclined to exaggerate both the pleasure and the pain of his childhood. . . . Or I know I do.

I put too much sugar in my coffee. . . . I have been told by many a coffee or tea expert that you ruin both drinks by putting sugar and milk in them. . . . I shall continue to ruin them—to my own taste.

Every man should earn his living; if he doesn't earn it, it isn't a living. . . . And it's not correct to say that honesty is the best policy; if it's a "policy" it isn't honesty.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

GOOD THINGS IN SCHOOL

SOMETIMES we parents allow ourselves to tug so hard at the moat in the eye of the school, that we are unable to see the bulging beams in our own eyes. We must expect to find some things at school we do not like. Such actually may be there; for teachers, like parents, are human beings. We may, however, have illusions, thanks to our lack of knowledge and our own imagination. We need to keep perspective. Certainly we cannot afford to close our eyes to the many good things happening at school, and the many wonderful teachers there.

As with our loved ones at home, so with the teacher and the other school officials: we take for granted what is best in them; we are wont to talk a lot about what seems worst in them. We would act far more intelligently, and we would do more to make our children happy and successful at school, if we were to cultivate the habit of talking more about the splendid teachers and school and the many good things occurring there. We might well, indeed, express our appreciation of the school to the teachers and principal face to face. So to celebrate success honestly will not only heighten the morale of our children and their teachers, but our own also.

Improve Own Attitude

Perhaps I could greatly improve in writing this column, in my reference to the schools. While I certainly have been sympathetic toward the teacher, my quarrel with some of the philosophers of education might have seemed at times to be unduly destructive. I think I had better turn my own eyes more upon the great big constructive items in our school development, and on the great personalities among our teachers.

More and more letters are coming to me from teachers. And what inspiring letters most of them are! In so many of these letters I see great and lovely souls all wrapped up in their children—some of them too conscientious, to be sure—eagerly endeavoring to find out how to do more for these enfolding personalities at school, and how to induce the parents of these children to create a more wholesome atmosphere for them at home.

Oh, yes; there are some teachers who merely watch the clock and draw their salary. But the rank and file of teachers, as I know them, are exceedingly unselfish in their outlook. In what other profession can we find more persons who seem to live their lives for others?

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

THE RIGHT WAY

A great deal of language is being spilled just now regarding the Supreme Court of the United States. This Nation has a written Constitution. No other Nation on earth has such an instrument. The Nation now in existence that has lived the longest is, of course, Great Britain. Their Constitution consists of Acts of Parliament and the Decisions of the law courts of England from time immemorial. The Conservatives of England have never been pleased with any of the there great Reform Bills that were passed during the last century. These bills deprived the House of Lords of a great deal of power in putting the "brakes" on Acts of the Commons.

The King's Ministers are the effective force of Great Britain, and this Ministry is changed whenever Parliament passes an Act in direct opposition to the policy of the then existing Ministry. An appeal is made to the Nation after the then Parliament has been dissolved, a new House of Commons elected and a new Ministry formed. As far as Acts of Public Policy are concerned, Parliament is the last word, unless such Act would come in direct conflict with that which had been the accepted Decrees of the Courts for centuries. In other words, no Parliamentary Act, for instance, could take property from any citizen of the Empire, without due recompense, and so far as such matters are concerned, the Courts of England have the last word and no Englishman would change it.

The Supreme Court of the United States has declared during the last few years, several Acts of Congress, unconstitutional. The decisions of the Supreme Court, no matter what the partisan feeling happens to be regarding them have been passed, I believe, solely upon their desire to keep Congress and the Chief Executive within the limits of the Constitution.

An appeal to the country can always be had in America, only not so quickly as it can be in England. The Decision of the Supreme Court, for instance, regarding the National Recovery Act, was a unanimous one, to the effect that it was entirely unconstitutional, but it was tantamount to telling the present Administration: "If you do not like it, appeal to the country. Let your Congress put up to the States a Constitutional Amendment, for the States to accept or reject, that will enable you to carry into effect the provisions of any such National Recovery Act," and such can be done. If the people are determined to have such a Constitutional Amendment, — as determined to have it as they were to re-elect President Roosevelt to office, there would be no delay in the ratification by two-thirds of the States.

DEAR MISS MARKEL—For a detached country house, is a square or an oblong plan preferable? A HOMEBUILDER.

Answer—Any good architect will tell you that an oblong house is far more attractive than a square house. His standard of perfect proportion is the Greek oblong or "golden oblong," whose sides are in the relation of two parts to three.

The front facade of a building designed in that proportion would measure three units wide as compare' with two units high. In other words, the house would be a third again as wide as high.

The ancient Greeks devised this standard after years of beauty worship. They regarded it as more beautiful than a square because equal sides make a square too monotonous.

Dear Miss Markel—I have an all-white kitchen. What colors may I use for curtains, other than green or red? B. D. T.

Answer—Brown and white or blue and white gingham is very attractive for kitchen curtains and chair-back covers.

British May Be Bluffing.
Armament Plan May Be Hoax.
Mexican Reform Continues.

By LESLIE EICHEL
Central Press Columnist

WALL STREET hears that Great Britain may not go through with its huge rearmament program. It will make all preparations, tentatively order all materials, raise the necessary sums—merely to show Germany and Italy what it CAN do. Then, the British believe, Hitler and Mussolini will take the hint—and enter a disarmament conference. That, too, is where the United States will enter.

If, however, Britain does stop suddenly with a large part of its rearmament program, the effect on world security and commodity markets will be drastically deflationary. Measures will have to be taken to prevent severe declines. Washington has been worrying about that. It believes the best way to prevent severe declines is to prevent sharp rises. But how can that be accomplished in a period of inflation?

GETTING TO PEOPLE

When Mayor Fiorello H. La Guardia suggested that a certain Brown Shirt leader be put into a gallery of horrors in New York's forthcoming exposition, he started something, as we all know. International relations would have been better off without that jolt.

But the fiery mayor high-lighted a situation which is giving the foreign offices of the world deep concern. Every source and power of information in Germany is in the hands of a few men in the Nazi government. And those men are not the moderate Nazis. Thus all that 60,000,000 Germans were permitted to hear were the horrible aspersions concerning Americans that appeared in the Nazi newspapers. Thy were, of course, untruths.

Likewise, no German was permitted to read or hear that the United States had protested.

Every bit of news disseminated is contaminated, not only against the United States, but against other nations as well—unless the Nazi leadership wills it otherwise, for diplomatic reasons of the moment.

The question, therefore, that arises in the foreign offices of other nations is this: Will the German people, one of the most highly cultivated peoples in the world, see the truth, or will its mind be poisoned against other nations?

MEXICAN REFORM

Mexican reform continues apace. Read this bulletin from the National Revolutionary party, in power in Mexico:

"The governor of the northern territory of Lower California was deposed after it had been proved to President Cardenas that he had connived at the reopening of gambling houses at Tiajuana. This border town, which was known as an international gambling resort for many years, was ordered to suppress gambling, and other houses catering to the demands of Californians on vacation, as soon as President Cardenas took office in 1934.

"The president is dead in earnest to stamp out such immortality as 'rugged individualism.' He has no formula for making men angels, but is determined that business based on vice has no place in Mexico. To the argument that gambling resorts attract tourists of a sort, President Cardenas firmly retorts that the degradation entailed makes such customers undesirable."

PRODUCTION TOO HIGH?

Now, Wall Street asks, hasn't production of autos been above the demand rate?

If so, when labor settlements are reached all around, production may tend to decline somewhat.

Twenty-Fifth Birthday Of Girl Scout Troops In America This Week

First American Troops, Organized By Juliette Low, Called Girl Guides

Founder Received Inspiration From Similar Movement On British Isles

In 1911 an American woman who lived in England met an Englishman and his sister, and as a result of that meeting hundreds of thousands of American girls have learned the satisfactions and delights of outdoor activities. The woman was Mrs. Juliette Gordon Low, of Savannah, Georgia, and the English couple were Sir Robert Baden-Powell and his sister. They introduced Mrs. Low to the newly formed Girl Guide troops of England, and she enthusiastically transplanted the movement to America, and dedicated herself to the task of making it flourish in its new soil.

First Called 'Girl Guides'

She started the first American troops in Savannah, her home city, in 1912 and called them Girl Guides, like their English sisters. But the girls steeped in American traditions soon asked that the name be changed to Girl Scouts. A year after the first troop was established Mrs. Low threw all her energies into developing the movement into one of national scope. She bullied and cajoled her friends, newspaper men, equipment manufacturers, girls, young women, and others who could assist the young organization. Her vision of the human possibilities of the movement and her own energy and charm were so compelling, that the Girl Scouts grew not only rapidly, but strongly. Fired by the fine qualities of the idea itself, and by Mrs. Low's own enthusiasm and example, women all over the country began training themselves for leadership in the steadily forming Girl Scout troops. Mrs. Low dashed from conference to conference, from city to city, from America to England, carrying with her always her dream of an international Girl Scout movement, and her determination that fine women everywhere should take part in it. In all the confusion of plans and organization, however, she never lost sight of her ideal, that Girl Scouting should be a movement which gave to girls the advantages of outdoor life and interests, and of character developed through contact and cooperation with other girls.

Form International Council

Mrs. Low's dream of an international Girl Scout council was realized in 1919. The council was formed, with representatives from thirty-two countries. In 1926 the Girl Scouts of the United States were hostesses at a World Camp, at which delegates from all the countries were present. This was Mrs. Low's dearest hope, and it was almost a personal tribute to her that it was accomplished, as the difficulties seemed insuperable. Two entire camps were built for the occasion, in Briarcliff Manor, New York, and both the camps and the encampment were tremendously successful.

The World Camp came none too soon. In 1927 Mrs. Low died, gallant and charming to the last, of an affliction which she had suffered for many years. With her the girls of the United States lost one of their most devoted champions.

Juliette Low's career is not only an ideal for the Girl Scouts to revere and emulate, it is one which should inspire all women. The fact that a woman of fifty-one, handicapped by illness and deafness, could still visualize, establish and guide a movement of such magnitude as the Girl Scouts should be a lesson to the world.

Twenty-Fifth Birthday

The Girl Scouts celebrate their twenty-fifth birthday this week. They will again entertain a World Camp this year and they wish that Juliette Low were here to see how finely and vitally the organization has grown. But they are happy in the knowledge that they are still working toward her ideal, the highest possible human ideal, of healthy, interested youth, and international trust.

A "Timely Reminder" was related by Mrs. Neal, and Mrs. William Mauermann later introduced Miss Ruth McClelland, who favored the assembly with two excellent readings. She chose for the first "The Green Mountain Justice" and second, "Watermelons On the Vine." Miss McClelland is a speaker of distinction, having won a medal at Harrisburg.

A social period was a later pleasure, when a dainty lunch was served by the hostess. St. Patrick's appointments were used, and the table center was adorned with a cluster of daffodils and acacia, guarded on either side by tall green tapers, in crystal holders.

WASHINGTON AT A GLANCE

Protest Over Nazi Remarks

Capital Wonders Whether Ignoring Remarks Would Not Have Been Best

GERMAN PAPERS MAGNIFY EVENT

Central Press
Washington Bureau
602 Times-Herald Bldg.
By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, March 17.—According to views here, diplomacy makes itself undignified when it concerns itself with such incidents as arose out of the recent reference by Mayor Fiorfello H. La Guardia of New York to Herr Hitler as a "brown-shirted fanatic," who ought to be done in wax as an exhibit in a chamber of horrors at Manhattan's coming world's fair.

Uncle Sam had considerably the better of the affair up to the point where the state department felt it incumbent upon itself to make "representations" to Berlin concerning the vituperative remarks made by the German press in response to the mayor's utterance.

It surely would have been preferable, however, if Secretary Hull had ignored the Hitlerian newspapers' outburst of rage.

A HOT REMARK

Mayor La Guardia's reference to Herr Hitler was not so intemperate after all. The Fuehrer actually boasts of his brown shirt. "Fanatic" isn't exactly a complimentary term, but it is not downright vile, as the German papers have been.

When Berlin protested Mayor La Guardia's "chamber of horrors" suggestion, one would have liked to have had the state department answer:

"Oh, go to hades!"

It shouldn't have been said violently, but only in a mild, contemptuous tone.

HULL'S REJOINDER

Nevertheless, Secretary Hull's rejoinder was pretty good.

In effect, the secretary expained that in the United States freedom of press and of speech still prevail. "Still!" Strongly implying that such freedom no longer prevails in Germany, if it ever did.

He said that, considering the existence of official relations between the two countries, he was sorry that La Guardia said what he did. "Official" relations! He didn't say "friendly" relations. He also said he was sorry that La Guardia said what he did—not that he disagreed with it.

LA GUARDIA SCORES

La Guardia also scored.

He has mentioned that he only spoke of a "brown-shirted fanatic", who ought to be in a chamber of horrors—naming no names.

But the Hitlerites, as he truthfully observes, immediately recognized his description as fitting the Fuehrer, and are infuriated by it according to their own interpretation.

ON OTHER FOOT?

Well, the joke thus far was on the Hitlerites.

Then, turning the thing around, by taking umbrage at what Hitlerism says of us, we put ourselves into a defensive position.

We ask THEM to explain.

Who cares what the Hitlerite hotheads say?

WHY BE SASSY?

Oh, yes. They can control their speech and press, making them official.

We cannot control ours.

It is a distinction we should not try to draw in our own favor.

Let 'em be Nazi-istic if they like. Let us even be tolerant of their prejudices. But, for heaven's sake, should we adopt their diplomatic methods! Swap "sassy" international messages with them?

Many years ago, when kaiserism was in flower, an American admiral, attending a banquet, recited a poem entitled "Me und Gott."

It created an international "incident."

It was about as important as this thing.

Repeal B. & L. Tax On Paid Up Stock

Esposito Tells His Life Story

Defendant In Old Murder Case Denies Killing Francesco Romeo

CASE IS LIKELY TO END TODAY

Rocco Esposito, 56, whose home is in Kirkland Lake, Ontario, took the witness stand in Lawrence county court Tuesday afternoon and told the jury trying him for the murder of Francesco Romeo his life's story.

Calmly, without raising his voice he told the jury of his early life in San Luca, Italy, of his emigration to the United States, of living in Buffalo with Francesco Romeo, of coming to New Castle and leaving on October 6, 1906 one day before Francesco Romeo met his death near New Castle Junction.

Francesco Romeo was married to a cousin of Esposito's, or rather "Strange", for it is by the name of Rocco Strange that he is naturalized as a Canadian citizen. He took the name of his father but for a time was known by the maiden name of his mother. Romeo was a citizen of the same town in Italy as Rocco and when Romeo settled in Buffalo, N. Y., he sent word to Rocco to come on.

Arrives In U. S.

Arriving in New York sometime later in 1905 or early in 1906 Esposito went to Buffalo and lived with Romeo for several months. He left Buffalo for Youngstown, O., Romeo paying his fare, Esposito said.

In Youngstown he lived in the home of a man named Cottrone but suspicioning the many meetings of men held in the boarding house, Rocco came to New Castle where he got a job.

Cottrone came to New Castle and asked him to write Romeo in Buffalo to come to New Castle and start a bank as he (Cottrone) had a grudge against a New Castle banker. Before Romeo came, Cottrone came to New Castle and said Esposito had "squealed" to the banker in question and ordered Rocco to leave town on pain of death.

"I was just a young man, new in the country" said Esposito and I left, going to Ligonier. Several days later the man whom I stayed read me an article in a newspaper which said I was wanted for the murder of Francesco Romeo. Before God I never killed him."

Wrong Either Way

"I was frightened and didn't know what to do. My friend told me to get away. If you go back and stand trial and are freed, Cottrone will kill you" said my friend".

I left and went to Illinois where I worked for a while and then went to Wyoming."

In questioning Esposito, Attorney D. F. Rendenell of Youngstown took little time with the details of his stay in the various places. The only detail gone into was the coming of Esposito to New Castle, the writing of letters to Romeo in Buffalo and the flight from New Castle. Following that Rendenell sketched over the ensuing years. These were brought out on cross examination.

Upon cross examination by District Attorney Mont L. Ailey, Esposito told of going to Belgium where he was married, staying there until 1913 and then coming back to America. He went to Canada, worked for eight years in Montreal, worked for a while in Cobalt, in South Porcupine and then moved to Kirkland Lake, Ontario where he was apprehended on December 31, 1936 by Investigator Frank A. Costa of the Pennsylvania Department of Justice.

He told of giving the authorities in the United States word of the whereabouts of Giovanni Gatori, now in the Connecticut state prison and Patsy Scalone now in the eastern penitentiary of Pennsylvania, both up for murder. He denied doing it for rewards but admitted getting one reward.

Other Testimony

Before closing, the commonwealth called a number of witnesses Tuesday afternoon. Harry Glitch told of driving the ambulance on the night of October 7, 1906 when Romeo was hauled to the Shenango Valley hospital. Sergeant Harold Pierce of the Pennsylvania State Police told of aiding in the search for records of the case in the Lawrence county court house.

Frank A. Costa, investigator of the Pennsylvania Department of Justice told of learning of Esposito's whereabouts in February 1936 and of covering many states in his search for information. He said he first got word of Esposito's whereabouts from Giovanni Gotari now in the Connecticut state prison. Costa was very fair in his testimony and told of Esposito telling him his story of leaving New Castle on October 6, 1906. Mr. Costa related the return of Esposito to the United States and told his story without any sign of rancor or bias towards the prisner.

He said that Pasquale Olivia who had been a resident of New Castle at the time of the murder and was wanted as a witness in this case had died in Chicago shortly after being questioned. Dominick Caio, tried and acquitted for the crime in 1906, Costa said he did not know his whereabouts. "I knew where he was up to two months ago but did not question him, preferring to wait until nearer the trial" said he. "The last I knew of him he was in St. Paul, Minn."

Mrs. Mary Conti

Mrs. Mary Conti, court interpreter told of going to the Shenango Valley hospital in October 1906 where a man was wounded. The man, Francesco Romeo, was in great pain she said and wanted her to put her fingers down his throat so he could vomit the blood up. He then asked her for a knife so he could cut a hole in his throat so he could breathe.

Mrs. Conti said she remembered his dying statement vaguely in which he mentioned Esposito's name but beyond that Mrs. Conti said it was so long ago that she could not remember. The dying statement which Romeo made at the time has since been lost.

James Deskin, a patrolman on the city police force at the time of the murder said he remembered arresting two men on South Jefferson street for the murder but said he could not remember any details.

Due to the death of many people who might have been used for witnesses and the loss of the dying statement of Romeo the commonwealth was handicapped in the presentation of its case. The only testimony that linked Esposito with the crime was that reference of Mrs. Conti's in which she said she remembered hearing Romeo mention Esposito's name.

The morning session was rather slow but in the afternoon the commonwealth put the witnesses through rather speedily. District Attorney Mont L. Ailey closed his case about 3:30 and immediately Attorney Sherman K. Levine opened the defense.

Esposito went to the witness stand about 4 o'clock and told practically the same story as he told to The News early in January except that his story to The News was in greater detail.

There should be a verdict sometime late today as the arguments and charge to the jury should be completed sometime after lunch.

Local Strike In Twelfth Day

Employes Of National Pants Company Are Still Sitting In Plant

UNION OFFICIAL IS HERE TODAY

With no change in the sit-down strike at the National Pants Company reported today, the strike entered its 12th day of duration, with no indication of a settlement from either side.

It is reported here that conferences are being held between officials of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers Union and plant owners in New York City, but no word has been received as yet from these meetings.

J. F. Potofsky, vice president of the clothing workers union, who has been in Butler attending conferences between officers of the Spaide Shirt Company and union representatives, came here this afternoon from Butler to address the workers at the pants factory.

Yesterday afternoon a mock trial was staged with John Urban as the defendant, and Bob Ubry as presiding judge. Tony Micco served as prosecuting attorney and Stanley Reppchack as defense attorney. This furnished considerable amusement.

Last night Clara Troggio entertained with tap dance numbers with Alex Sroczynski accompanying on the accordion. He also rendered a number of solos.

T. Louis Majors, field director of the steel workers organization committee, spoke to the workers.

This evening more entertainment has been arranged to entertain the employes.

Miss Opal Tindall, one of the women strikers, was taken ill with appendicitis yesterday, and was removed to the New Castle hospital, where she underwent an operation.

Local People At Veteran's Funeral

Mr. and Mrs. Amos Heilbrun of West Washington street, and Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Whitacre of East Washington street extension, have returned to their homes from Dayton, Pa., in Armstrong county, after attending the funeral of a relative, Andrew Whitacre, last Civil War veteran of the Dayton post, G. A. R.

Mr. Whitacre, over 90 years old, was the grandfather of Mrs. Heilbrun and uncle of A. L. Whitacre. He was the only one of three brothers to live through the Civil War; Robert Whitacre was taken prisoner and confined in Anderson prison, dying shortly after his release, and Clark Whitacre died from a sunstroke while on a forced march. All three were enlisted with the Union army, 103rd Pennsylvania infantry.

Full military honors were given at the funeral and when burial was made in Vandergrift.

BIZARRE "LOVE CLUB" REVEALED BY MURDER OF CANTON WOMAN

fering to the men's wives and children.

Soon after the "love club" development Mayor James A. Seccombe announced a $1,000 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of Mrs. Cable's murderer. The mayor said:

"A good woman has been the victim of one of the country's most vicious crimes.

Pooled Expenses

"We have information that at least four other men besides Mrs. Cable's husband, Deuber, pooled expenses on a love nest over at Akron and that they had a similar apartment in Canton, too.

"The Akron apartment cost several thousand dollars to establish and furnish, and from what we know it was sort of a community gathering place," he added. "Cable's men friends brought women to the place for parties and week-end affairs."

Chief of Detectives Elmer Clark said:

"Theresa Ludwig, who was Cable's girl friend, told me there were six others besides Cable who used the Akron apartment as a party hang-out and playground.

"Two of these men were from Cleveland, one was from Akron and three were from Canton, besides Cable.

"Miss Ludwig told me she merely acted as hostess for Cable's friends most of the time and that often these friends and their girls would go on cross-country jaunts."

Scandal Threatens Men

The scandal threatening to break around the heads of these prominent men hinges on the statements of Cable and Miss Ludwig themselves. Cable is socially prominent and well-to-do. His sweetheart is twice divorced.

Cable and the woman admitted to the authorities they had been engaging in a romance for seven years and that he has maintained an apartment for her in Akron since July, 1934.

The pair's statements concerning the apartment contain repeated mention of five men, all prominent, who are said to have shared the expense of operating the "love nest" and to have attended many parties there. One of the men is said to be a banker, another a prominent automobile dealer. All are said to have brought other girls to the apartment.

Reward Increased

Canton, O., March 17.—Deuber S. Cable, well-to-do excavating contractor, today equalled the city's reward of $1,000 posted for apprehension of the mysterious assassin who killed his wife, Mrs. Rose Beiter Cable, by firing a shotgun charge through a window as she was covering a bird cage in her home here last Thursday night.

Canton's daily newspaper, The Repository, offered another $100, boosting the total reward to $2,100 as police swung back to the former theory that a hired assassin was the slayer.

SANUTE FREED BY DIRECTION OF JUSTICE MAXEY

nounced the verdict in the Sanute case will have no effect on the other defendants and all will be brought to trial.

"I direct you to return a verdict of not guilty," Justice Maxey ordered the jury after 15 hours of unsuccessful deliberation on their part.

Margiotti Amazed

Attorney General Charles J. Margiotti, special prosecutor in the case, whose clashes with Judge Maxey have been a feature of the trial, stared, amazement and astonishment written over his features.

He began to object. The court overruled his objections.

"You are discharged," said Judge Maxey to the defendant, Sanute. Margiotti, violent disagreement mirrored on his face, turned and almost ran from the courtroom.

"Autocratic," he roared in anger, from the office nearby of District Attorney A. M. Matthews.

"Judge Maxey's action is unwarranted, unprecendented, unlawful, and the greatest abuse of power ever exercised in the state of Pennsylvania by a trial judge.

"His action will go down in the annals of Pennsylvania history as Pennsylvania's greatest miscarriage of justice."

Sanute Leaves

Sanute by now had left the court, quietly and by a side door. Erect and emotionless he had heard the judge order him acquitted. Then he left, to go to the jail next door, it was believed, where his fellow trooper and buddy, Stacey Gunderman, awaited sentencing after being convicted earlier of second degree murder in the same case.

So was brought to an end, for the time being at least, in a dramatic and an astonishing climax, the second of Pennsylvania's now famous Fayette county's "third degree" cases, which has kept a good portion of the staff in a ferment ever since 64 year old Monaghan was taken from the Bertillon room of Fayette county courthouse on September 12, 1936, on a stretcher, dead after hours of questioning.

City Officials Make Proposal At Harrisburg

City officials, who with county officials and other persons which made up a party of 26, returned here from Harrisburg today with hopes that the state may build a proposed $2,000,000 state hospital in the city or county. The officials, according to J. Myron Rice, director of the city health department, told state officials what land in and out of the city would be available for such an institution.

Seek Injunction To Oust Strikers

(International News Service)

READING, Pa., March 17.—Counsel for the Rosedale Knitting Mills, one of the 20 plants closed in Berks county's general hosiery strike, today will apply for an injunction against sit-down strikers.

Harry W. Lee of counsel for the firm, announced that details for the injunction proceeding have been completed. He disclosed that 300 of Rosedale's 3,200 workers have occupied the plant in suburban Laureldale since March 10.

This proposed step marked virtually the first effort by a Berks county manufacturer to combat the strike which has closed all but two small hosiery mills in this area and forced approximately 8,000 workers out of jobs since March 1.

"We'll meet the issue in court," replied union officials.

STRIKES STILL HOLDING EIGHT DETROIT PLANTS

problem of getting them out peacefully into the lap of Governor Frank Murphy and his "law and order" committee of twenty who were to meet here today. The committee comprises civic leaders, employers and union representatives.

Homer Martin, president of the United Automobile Workers union, who had been invited to attend this morning wired Governor Murphy from Cleveland that he would not attend the conference.

Martin said in effect that he did not believe the committee would be effective in evacuating the sit-downers. He suggested that "those who are interested in law and order use their energies most effectively by helping labor to get rid of the evils at the root of strikes."

If Governor Murphy's committee cannot find a solution Judge Campbell, who issued the injunction, will be forced to declare the sit-down strikers in contempt of court.

Failure of the union men to vacate the plants this morning made them subject to a penalty of $10,000,000.

Whether such a fine would be revoked, or could be collected, was a matter of conjecture. In the recent strike involving General Motors Corporation a judge at Flint, Mich., levied a penalty of $15,000,000 for failure of the strikers to leave the GM plants while that strike was in progress This fine was never revoked.

Will Maintain Law And Order

Detroit, March 17.—Creation of tribunals and committees, modeled upon NRA, to adjuticate labor disputes was advanced today by Governor Murphy as a permanent method of ending sit-down strikes in Michigan.

Governor Murphy made the proposal as he opened his conference of civic and labor leaders in Hotel Statler. Homer Martin, president of the United Automobile Workers and Richard T. Frankenstein, chief UAW organizers, declined to attend the conference.

Governor Murphy issued a 2000 word statement to the press before the start of the conference. In it he warned there is a "limit" to negotiations and conferences and declared that law and order would maintained in Michigan.

He outlined a broad policy of peacefully settling labor disputes through committees of industry. He suggested each industry set up some sort of tribunal to handle problems directly applying to it.

The governor suggested that existing trade associations, such as the hotel men's association, and similar trade bodies might be used as the basis for such committees.

Upon her arrival home from California, Nellie Granger, Dravosburg's heroine of the airlines, announced her intention to become a pilot. The air hostess, who was skyrocketed to fame when a TWA liner fell near Uniontown last year, said that she will complete her course in flying as soon as she can. She adds, however, that she does not believe women will ever supplant men as pilots on the airlinse. "It's a man's job to handle the big ships," she says, "however, flying along in a small plane is great sport".

The greatest movement of iron ore in history is forecast by Dale Cox writing in the Cleveland Plain Dealer. He says that it can be limited only to the capacity of the lake ore boat fleet, that it will be greater than in 1929 if there are enough boats on the lakes to carry tonnage and the shipping season can start early enough and continue late enough. One of the reasons ascribed for the enormous iron ore demand this season is the great armament boom now in progress in every major country of the world.

Up at Nenana, Alaska, there is a nice little jack-pot waiting for the person who guesses when the Tanana river ice jam will break. The pool has passed the $60,000 mark and the "residenters" up in that section are plenty excited. The guessing closes April 10 and the break-up is due any time between April 26 and May 15. Last year it was at 12:58 p. m. April 30 and two tickets paid $64,000 each because their holders guessed that minute. A pole stands in the river with a string attached. When the ice breaks the string trips a stop clock in the center of town. Some fun.

WHAT YOU SHOULD KNOW ABOUT FACE PIMPLES

These disfiguring little spots often result from a slight, temporary disturbance, or merely from incorrect cleansing, or sometimes they are more persistent due to deeper internal causes.

While properly treating the underlying cause, you can relieve the itchy, burning soreness and help your skin by using an ointment that will keep the medication in contact with the pimply spots. Apply it every night and leave it on all night. It does a world of good.

For more than 40 years people have used Resinol Ointment to fill this need. It soothes the irritation and aids healing. It also treats the oil pores where many surface pimples start. Washing first with Resinol Soap quickens the pleasing results.

Buy a jar of Resinol Ointment and cake of Resinol Soap from any druggist. For free sample write Resinol, Dept. 10, Baltimore, Md.

CAPTAIN JACOBS

Do you know that Captain Jacobs, a noted Indian chief, lost his life when the Indian town of Kittanning was attacked and destroyed by Colonel John Armstrong on September 8, 1756?

Kittanning is the county seat of Armstrong County. In 1724 certain Delaware Indians, known as "Lenni-Lenape," settled along the Allegheny River where Kittanning now stands. Until 1756 this was the chief Indian town west of the Allegheny Mountains. The Indian interpretation for Kittanning was, "The place on the great river." The town was attacked and destroyed by Colonel John Armstrong and his soldiers on September 8, 1756. A large natural stone marker at the east end of the magnificent bridge, spanning the beautiful Allegheny, commemorates Colonel Armstrong's victory.

A bronze plaque on the front wall of the Alexander Hotel marks the site of the cabin of Captain Jacobs, the Indian chief, who was shot to death while trying to escape.

REPORT EARLE SEEKS TO NAME RELIEF BOARDS

May Seek Power From Legislature

Boards Will Consist Of Seven Members Selected From Each County

GOODRICH PLAN NOT ON THIS LINE

By FREDERICK N. POLANGIN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HARRISBURG, March 17—Gov. George H. Earle, it was learned today, is seriously considering asking the legislature to place in his hands the power of appointing county boards to administer relief and all forms of public assistance in Pennsylvania.

The boards, to consist of seven members, according to present plans, would be selected from the counties in which they would operate and would be directly responsible to the proposed department of public assistance which will, if the administration has its way, administer the consolidated program.

Bills Being Completed

Bills incorporating these recommendations are being completed by the Thompson joint legislative committee on relief, expected to make its report to the general assembly soon.

The Goodrich committee, whose recommendations to consolidate all public assistance and relief agencies to be financed principally by the state were virtually adopted en toto by the governor in his budget message, suggested that the local boards be nominated by the department of public assistance and elected by the county commissioners.

How the governor's present proposal will be received by the legislature, if his course is definitely decided upon, was a matter of conjecture.

Administration and legislative leaders, International News Service learned, have urged that he follow this course, but strong Democratic blocs in both houses have indicated they will press for the election of local boards.

Yesterday, the chief executive reiterated his demands that the two-century old poor board system be wiped out to make way for a "modern, scientific relief setup."

Flood Started Year Ago Today

Melting Snows And Rain Caused Pennsylvania Streams To Overflow

HEAVIEST SNOW OF WINTER NOTED

March 17, the date observed in commemoration of St. Patrick, is a memorable one in Western Pennsylvania history, as it marks the anniversary of the start of the great March flood of 1936.

New Castle, singularly enough, escaped damage, but the surrounding area, in fact, almost the entire state, was inundated by the worst flood in recent history, when the winter's unusually heavy accumulation of snow melted off to the accompaniment of a downpour of rain.

After the rain, came the heaviest snowfall of the year, the fall in two days here amounting to 13 inches, the heaviest of the year.

The Pymatuning Dam, received its first test as a flod conservation project and came through with flying colors, preventing a recurrence of the disastrous 1913 flood .

The New Castle high school basketball team, in Pittsburgh for the W. P. I. A. L. elimination series, was marooned by the rising flood waters, but were able to get back the next day.

Famous Sankey hymns will be used at the service.

Can't Sober Up At Expense Of State

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, March 17.—Pennsylvania's inebriates today faced the probability they will no longer be able to "sober up" at the state's expense in a state or licensed mental hospital.

A measure, introduced by Rep. Ray Whalen, D., Luzerne, provides that "any inebriate who, except for his inebriation, is of good character and reputation," will not be admitted to a state hospital for mental diseases or any other licensed hospital unless a $500 bond is posted for payment of costs. The bill carries the administration "must" stamp.

The administration also moved to offer "greater protection to Pennsylvania brewing industries against unfair competition with the produce of out-of-state brewers," by "imposing the Pennsylvania local tax rate of $1.24 a barrel, plus the excess over the local tax which the foreign state imposes upon Pennsylvania beer."

Goodnough To Make Defense

Chairman Of P. S. C. To Defend Record Of State Body Before Committee

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Pa., March 17.—Fighting in the last ditch, the Public Service Commission today was to make its final effort to stave off extinction by sending C. J. Goodnough, its chairman, before a senate committee to argue its case.

Across battle lines drawn partly on party affiliation, Goodnough was to launch his offensive in the form of an address and in turn face a barrage of questions posed by members of the utilities commission of the upper chamber.

The stage was set by the introduction of administration measures to "rip" out the seven-member Republican-dominated commission and supplant it with a "sympathetic" five-member public utility commission. The 70-year-old chairman, a former speaker of the house, was cast in the leading role.

To charges by Democratic leaders on the floor of the legislature that the commission "had not acted in the best interests of the public," Goodnough was expected to respond by pointing to provisions incorporated in the administration's proposal for new public service laws as those recommended by the present rate board.

Approval of the purchase of the property and assets of the Welsh Bus Line, by the Harmony Short Line Motor Transportation Company, was asked in a hearing before Examiner Garfield Phillips, of the Public Service Commission, in Pittsburgh.

The property of the Welsh concern was bought by the Harmony company at a receiver's sale in Butler, last December, and the Harmony Company has been operating the Welsh bus routes since that time. F. Clair Ross, had been the receiver of the Welsh Bus Company since June 15, 1932.

The Harmony company in their petition sought approval of the right to carry passengers between Butler, Slippery Rock, Grove City, New Castle, Greenville, and numerous other points to other places in the state, and for the right to transport small packages between various points on its lines.

'Sweepstakes' Ticket Brings Happiness To South Side Resident

Today, George Costakis, of 15 East Reynolds street, is one of the happiest men in New Castle.

He is among the few lucky United States residents to draw a horse in the Irish Hospitals Grand National Sweepstake, scheduled for Friday, March 19, an unexpected telegram from Dublin revealed.

According to the telegram, Mr. Costakis drew a horse called, Arce De Triomphe. If the horse is unplaced, the ticket is worth 614 pounds sterling, or about $3,000 in American money. But, of course, if Arce De Triomphe runs, wins or even places, Mr. Costakis' financial worries would be a thing of the past, for a while.

As a result of his good fortune, Mr. Costakis is one of the most popular figures in the South Side.

"Suppose you do win one of the big prizes, what will you do with the money?"

"I will make my family in Greece happy. I have a wife and two daughters, 13 and 11. I will give my kids the best education. I will help relations and some of my friends who helped me," he told the writer.

"Are you excited?"

"No, not now. But, if I find out my horse wins, I don't know what I do," he said.

"I never knew I had so many friends until I won the ticket. Everyone seems to be my friend now'," he told the reporter without being asked.

"Have you always been lucky?"

"No. That's first time I ever won anything. My sister-in-law coaxed me for long time to buy ticket. I no want to buy it. She coax somemore and I buy the ticket."

"Would you sell the ticket before the race?" Mr. Costakis was asked.

"I wouldn't sell it for anything now," he answered.

Seek To Reduce Government Cost

Democratic And Republican Legislators Join In Move In State

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Pa., March 17.—Democratic and Republican legislators today joined their efforts in reducing the cost of government by consolidation and reorganization of Pennsylvania's departmental setup.

The movement was touched off suddenly yesterday in the house when Rep. Ellwood J. Turner, Delaware, Republican whip, came forward with a nine-point program, which in itself, he admitted, was "only a starter."

On the basis of Turner's proposal came the announcement of Rep. Leo A. Achterman, D., Monroe, chairman of the state government committee that a sub-committee had been appointed to study that very thing.

Rep. Herbert B. Cohen, York, Democratic floor leader, chairman of the sub-committee, however, indicated to International News Service that his group intended to press for passage of a regulation which would create a permanent legislative commission to study and recommend governmental reorganization to the end of establishing greater efficiency and lower cost.

BRAKES COME LOOSE; AUTO RUNS AWAY

Ray Hansen, 450 County Line street, reported to police yesterday that he parked his automobile in front of his residence and went inside the house to have dinner. The brakes became disengaged and the car ran down the hill striking a porch at 436 County Line street. The porch was damaged.

Legion Birthday Observed Monday

Auxiliary Presents Program In Legion Home Commemorating Event

Members of the Ladies Auxiliary of the Perry S. Gaston Post, American Legion, entertained members of the post in the Legion Home, Monday evening, in honor of the 18th birthday of the American Legion, which was formed in France, prior to the close of the World War.

Mrs. Frances Cope had charge of the program and presided, assisted by Mrs. Mary Wilson, president of the auxiliary.

The program included trumpet solos by Bobby Evans, accompanied at the piano by his mother, Mrs. John Evans. Readings were given by Mr. Kissinger, and solo numbers by Peter Haggerty, and David Lewis.

Mrs. Mary Wilson presented Mrs. Mary Craig with a lovely gift during the evening, to which she responded graciously.

A placque was presented to Commander David Tobin, setting forth the resolution supporting Conservation of Natural Resources, which was adopted at the Cleveland Convention last September. It was beautifully illuminated on woodcraft paper, mounted on a background of yellow birch, which will be hung in the Legion Home. Commander Tobin spoke in regard to the founding of the Legion.

At the conclusion, the program closed with the singing of America, with Mrs. Evans at the piano. Lunch was served by Mrs. Hazel Cooper and her aides.

A business meeting took place previous to the program, when arrangements were made for a card party on Monday evening, March 29, with Mrs. Hazel Cooper as chairlady, and Mrs. Orville Potter, Mrs. Nick Speed, and Mrs. Ida Suber as assistants.

State Committee Meeting Is Asked

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, March 17.—J. J. Benning, a member of the Republican state committee from Pittsburgh, announced in a statement here today that he has filed with state chairman M. Harvey Taylor a petition "signed by a sufficient number of state committeemen and women requesting a meeting of the state committee, April 17".

Benning's statement declared the fact that he encountered no difficulty in obtaining signatures on the petition he circulated "clearly indicates a widespread desire in all sections of the state for a rejuvenation of the party".

DIET VALUE OF SOY FLOUR DISCUSSED

(By Dr. J. A. Lee Clerc of the Food Research Division, Bureau of Chemistry and Soils, United States Department of Agriculture.)

Comparing soy beans with other legumes and common cereals, Dr. Lee Clerc asserted soy beans are appreciably richer in total minerals, especially in sodium potassium, magnesium Calcium, phosphorus and sulphur.

In these mineral constituents, he added, soy bean flour far surpasses any of our common foods, such as cereals, legumes, vegetables, fruits, meats, nuts, milk and eggs. Soy bean flour is one of the richest sources of lime. It is practically free from starch, containing less than one per cent. Try the wonderful bread. Sold exclusively at

Sob Plays Are Doing Come-Back

Play Writers Turn From Smut To Smugness In New Broadway Hits

NEW IDEAS IN SLEEPING GIVEN

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, March 17.—They are getting some of the good old tear jerking stuff back in the theater as a relief from the highly scented smut that has passed for sophistication for several years. And even the hardened playgoers are eating it up and asking for more.

O. O. McIntyre

Three of the seasonal hits have been as plainly adorned as the carpet covered brick door stop and as simple and old fashioned as the hand-painted conch shell on the parlor mantle. Not a single reference to perversion or popping the name for which the Greeks had a word.

The old formula never dies. Give a smart playwright a fellow drunk in the gutter Christmas night. His family home hungry and staring at the wall. A little church music sifting through the background and he can still break down the hardest hearts herded in a playhouse.

Rose Stahl used to stand them up with the it-happened-to-me-but-won't-happen-to-my-little-sister theme. Even the modern Noel Coward rehawks the venerable cliche in his hit skit, "Family Album". The notion of the tyrannical father spoiling the daughter's life is always good.

Fred C. Kelly recently was an over-night guest of a married friend whose wife was away visiting. Upon retiring, the host could not find the bed sheets so be bedded his guest between table cloths. And now Kelly says he will never sleep between regular sheets again. There was a reporter on a Cincinnati paper—his name escapes me—assigned to attend one of the recurrent feuds in a Kentucky burg. The hotel had only one tiny room left with a cot but no pillow. So he stuffed his hand satchel full of clothes and had the soundest sleep of his life. Whenever he had insomnia, he got out the grip, packed it and slept the clock around. At least so he said. Doctors declare that being uncomfortably pillowed has much to do with insomnia relief.

Probably the most cultured and tiniest membership of any club in town is that of the Coffee House. It was the inspiration of the bon vivant Frank Crowninshield in 1915. Thousands pass daily without ever noticing it on West 54th street. There are only two medium-sized rooms with a single long table where members lunch and dine. The decorations are naive, consisting almost solely of Matisse drawings, the loan of the founder. The membership is a hand-picked list of authors, writers, journalists, playwrights, critics and a soupcon of musicians and actors. Many refer to it as "The Little Savage" after the quaint old London club that is Wells' favorite. No club is run so effortlessly and gets on so smoothly. There are no officers, no election committees, no speeches and no charge accounts. No member has ever been dropped and only at rare intervals and following a miscroscopic examination are new members added.

Harriett Hughes, who recently made a bang-up survey of New York club for her Dad's Detroit athletic club magazine, finds that the oldest and purely social club in Manhattan is the Union, occupying an elegant edifice on upper Park avenue, and the snobbiest is the 65-year-old Knickerbocker, where the accent is all on family, and which is famous for its cellar, noted chef and high percentage of military service. In the days when the hoity-toity clubs were all on the avenue and the old Tories, ocupying their window chairs watching the 5 o'clock parade, were a fixed picture in the metropolitan scene. And the target for much spoofing on the part of Life, Judge, Puck and other fun-poking feullitons of that day. The 5 o'clock parade belongs to a vanished era and the swell clubs have moved over east to Park.

One of the mirrory mid town dog shops has a decoy. A frolicsome Cairn whose energy is inexhaustible. If a passer-by comes to the window he rushes up with friendly barks and tail wags. If the passer-by taps the window, the dog paws back. Of course, almost everyone wants him. But once inside, it is expained he is not for sale. He belongs to the proprietor—but there are other fine pups. And often the decoy lands a sale. Incidentally, a de luxe cat shop to be called The Puss Parlor is to open on upper 5th avenue shortly. Prices from $50 to $1,500.

Sudden thought: It strikes me that things started giong wrong in this country about the time singers began ending their songs on those off key notes.

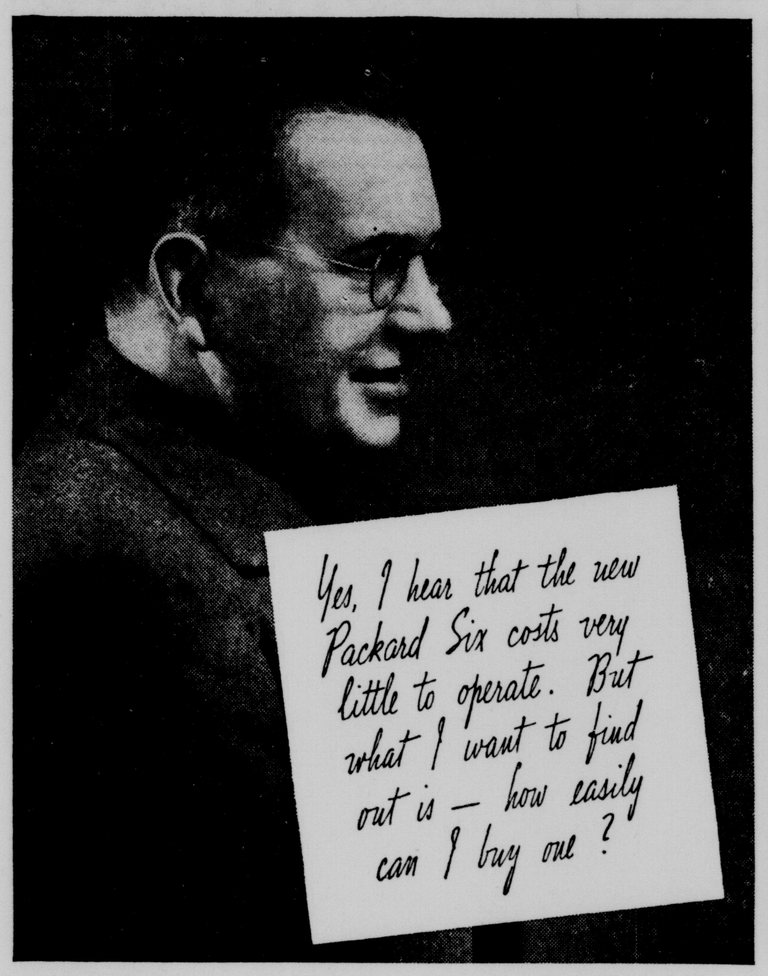
"HOW MUCH WILL A PACKARD COST ME?"

"ONLY $29 A MONTH, MR. JONES!"



SEND IN THE COUPON and you'll find that the Packard Six costs less to buy than you ever dared hope.

And here's more good news . . . the Packard Six can challenge any car for low-cost operation. This is true for two reasons . . .

First, because this powerful Six is unusually thrifty with gasoline. (Ask us to show you the actual gas mileage that local owners are getting).

Second, because the car is designed so simply that it costs very little to service. For example, most service operations can be performed on the Packard Six in less time, with less labor hours, than on cars lower in price!

And the Packard Six will not only need very little service but will last longer. This long mechanical life, coupled with the famous lines that keep Packards looking like Packards, make it the ideal car for the man who buys out of income.

The trial of Rocco Esposito, which is closing today, brought out a fact which perhaps has escaped the attention of some of the courthouse attaches. Mrs. Mary Conti, court interpreter, is the oldest courthouse attache in point of years of service. She began as court interpreter in 1901 and has served continuously since.

"It brings back the old days," said Mrs. Conti, discussing the events of 1906, the time of the alleged murder of Francesco Romeo. "In those days many people who had come here from Italy could not speak English. As a result when they were to be operated upon I had to go with them to the hospital and stay in the operating room while the surgeon did his work. When some of the girls got married I would be asked to go with them to buy the trousseau. Hardly a term of court but what I was used a great deal interpreting in cases."

Today there is little interpreting to do, but Mrs. Conti is now a tipstaff as well as court interpreter.

A lot of dog owners are still tempting fate in this county. The county treasurer, Joseph H. Hartland, reports only 5,768 dog licenses sold, with some 9,000 dogs in the county. John Mateer, the dog law enforcement officer, is working, and a number of citizens have paid for half a dozen licenses in fines and costs.

In the office of Prothonotary and Clerk of Courts two cases were filed Tuesday.

Carl C. Haug asks that a summons in foreign attachment be issued against John M. Linamen and the Atlantic Refining company.

Kenneth Beer, trading and doing business as the Oak Park Memorial company, asks a scire facias against Erroll Fullerton, administrator in the estate of the late Sarah Crooks.

Sergeant Harold Pierce of the Pennsylvania state police, who testified in the Esposito case on Tuesday, is the same man who acted as a foil in the Somerset county courts when State Policeman Tracy Gunderman demonstrated to the jury just what holds he used on Frank C. Monaghan in the incident in Uniontown when Monoghan lost his life.

"It was an effective hold and throw," said Sergeant Pierce, "but I wasn't knocked out as some of the newspapers had it. I made the fall all right and was just turning to roll when Gunderman slipped and hit me with his knees."

Sergeant Pierce still notices the effects of the demonstration, but is recovering rapidly. He is a veteran state policeman, with 16 years experience back of him and is an expert teacher of jui jitsu. He has taught it to countless state officers and Gunderman was one of his pupils.

State Moves To Prevent Further Infant Blindness

Health Officers Will Be Required To Care For Infants With Eye Trouble

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, March 17.—The administration moved today to further prevent "unnecessary blindness in infancy."

Introduced by Sen. I. Dana Kahle, Clarion Democrat, the measure amends an existing statute by requiring any public health officer, nurse or social worker to care for any infant whose eyes become inflamed, swollen or reddened any time within two weeks after birth and report the condition to the county medical director within six hours of the discovery.

Fifty years ago William Brazelle, Parisian emigrant farmer to California, hung his mattock in a tree and left it there. The tree grew around it until it was embedded. Recently it has been cut out, and will be preserved by the Brazelle family as it had been forged by hand by the original Brazelle owner.

"NEVER SATISFIED"

"Years ago, people used to have telephone trouble pretty often. Today there's mighty little repair work on telephones. I just fixed a worn out cord in one house and they told me it was the first telephone trouble they'd had in eleven years. I can't vouch for that, but I do know that telephone equipment is getting better every year because our research people are never satisfied. They're always trying to improve your service. Of course, it's not a hundred per cent trouble-free yet — but when trouble does come, we get it fixed in a hurry. Nobody wants to be without telephone service these days."

Research that eliminates repairs also helps to keep down the cost of service. Today almost everyone can afford a telephone. You can have one in your home for less than a dime a day. Just call the Business Office.

Dean For Waner Is Latest Yarn From Down South

Rumor Says "Dean Will Go To Pirates For Paul Waner And Bundle"

SHIKAT WOULD "RASSLE" LION

By PAT ROBINSON
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, March 17.—Along Bash Boulevard today . . . we find the sports world bedecked in green ties . . . and all hands heading for the Hippodrome . . . to see a dress rehearsal of the circus.

Clyde Beatty . . . bantamweight animal trainer . . . is advising some of the fight managers that his lions and tigers are just like their fighters.

Some Fighters

"Some are smart," says Beatty, "some dumb, some game, some yellow . . . "and a lion can usually lick a tiger . . . because he paces himself better . . . a tiger is strictly a front runner . . . he's a wow when he's got a guy in front of him he knows he can lick . . . but he punches himself out in a few minutes and then blows up . . . A lion takes his time, picks his spot and then tosses in the works . . . and he can take more punishment than a tiger.

"But the lion is not the king of the jungle . . . the real heavyweight champion is the grizzly bear . . . who's got everything . . . meanness, speed, power, gameness and brains . . . I once had a grizzly kill one of my best tigers in a few seconds . . . He simply grabbed the tiger and broke his neck."

Lion Vs. Tiger

Hymie Caplin wanted Beatty to stage a fight between a tiger and a lion . . . "Okay," smiled Beatty, "I'll do it if you'll get in the lion's corner" . . . Hymie turned pale . . . "No, no," he said . . . "Maybe better I should stick by fighters like Kreiger . . . he ain't liable to bite me."

Beatty revealed he is mating a female tiger and a male lion . . . hoping the offspring will show the mane and head of a lion and the body of a tiger . . . with the meanest traits of both . . . Says there is such an animal in Europe.

Dick Shikat . . . one of the better wrestlers . . . offered to wrestle a lion . . . if Beatty would sheathe the lion's claws and put a muzzle on him . . . By the way, Dick has one of the finest cauliflower ears in captivity . . . and is going to have it operated on . . . The girl friend doesn't like it . . . any more than Dick likes the new school of wrestlers . . . who, he says, simply can't wrestle . . . He vows there are not ten real matmen in the United States.

Dean To Pirates

Some of the Broadwayites think there is something to the rumor . . . which has Dizzy Dean going to the Pirates . . . in exchange for Paul Waner and a bundle of cash.

Lightweight Maxie Berger has no hips to speak of . . . and his fighting trunks keep slipping down to his ankles . . . causing no end of giggles.

Les Patrick now picks the Boston Bruins to win the Stanley Cup . . . Because he believes Detroit will feel the loss of Aurie just like the Yanks would miss Gehrig . . . Selah.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Chances of an American victory in the Grand National Steeplechase Friday at Aintree, England, depends largely on Robert Lehman's Didoric and J. B. Snow's Delachance in the opinion of experts who back their selections with money. Both horses have been backed to win with considerable money with the result that Didoric was quoted at 100 to 7 and Delachance at 100 to 6 in the latest betting odds. Delachance has turned in several good tryouts at various meetings as part of his training, including a win over two and a half miles at Kempton Park last month. He is said to be jumping better than last year, but will be more severely tested over Aintree's big fences and wide water jumps, which he has yet to negotiate. The chances of Didoric, bred in France, were elevated by his display of jumping at Hurst Park this month.

Helen Pederson, Stamford, Ct., star, ranked sixth in the U. S. and Mrs. Frederick McBride, Boston, a first-10 star a decade ago and Bermuda champion in 1929, reached the final round of women's singles in the Bermuda amateur tennis championships at Hamilton yesterday. Mme. Sylvia Henrotin of France, lost to Helen Pederson 12-10, 4-6, 8-6 and Mrs. McBride beat Mrs. Dorothy Andrus, New York, 5-7, 6-0, 6-1.

Only 14, But Makes Rapid Rise On Courts

Patricia Canning

Four years ago, a 10-year-old, blue-eyed Alameda, Cal., girl sat in the stands at a San Francisco tennis match and watched Helen Wills Moody play. She vowed some day she would be as great.

Today, 14-year-old Mary Patricia Canning, "Pat" to everyone, is on that road to fame. Recognized as the Pacific coast juvenile tennis champion, "Pat" is expected to compete in many events in the months to come.

Miss "Pat" plays an all-court game, using a strong fore and backhand driving style. Her Tilden-like overhand cannon-ball service should be especially effective on the grass and clay courts of the east.

"Pat" already holds several titles. She is juvenile champion of San Francisco and Berkeley, Alameda city champion, Pacific northwest junior singles titleholder and Washington state junior tennis queen.

WHAT BIG LEAGUE TEAMS ARE DOING

(International News Service)

SAN BERNARDINO, Cal., March 17.—The performance of a rookie, Morris Sands, from Chatfield, Texas, stood out today following the Pittsburgh Pirate's First prolonged drill since the team assembled at its training camp here. Sands, who batted .448 last year while playing ball for the University of Texas, clouted the spheroid all over the lot. Paul Waner, sole holdout of the Bucs, was still among the missing.

Mexico City, March 17.—The Philadelphia Athletics today had registered another training victory over a native nine in the 24-5 pasting handed the Agiculturists, a team which carried the Mackmen 12 innings before losing by one run last Saturday. Bob Johnson, Frank Hayes and Ace Parker belted four hits apiece for the winners.

Winter Haven, Fla., March 17.—The Phillies, divided into regulars and yannigans, today were to stage another private scrap at their headquarters here. Four pitchers saw service yesterday in the regulars' 2-0 triumph over the yans. Hughey Mulcahy was on the mound when the winning runs were scored.

Catalina, Island, Cal., March 17.—If the weatherman permits, the Chicago Cubs will engage in their first intraclub game today.

Pasadena, Cal., March 17.—Monty Stratton, White Sox pitcher, nursed a bruised knee today, the result of being plunked by a line drive in yesterday's conditioning session. Manager Jimmy Dykes ordered his hurlers to "turn on the heat" today for the first time.

Lakeland, Fla., March 17.—The Detoit Tiger outfield was being reshaped today, with Jo-Jo White apparently destined for centerfield, Gee Walker for right and either Goose Goslin or Al Simmons in left.

New Orleans, March 17—Outfielder Earl Averill and Pitcher Johnny Allen, late of the holdout ranks, were to work out again today with the Cleveland Indians. Both donned uniforms yesterday.

Tampa, Fla., Mach 17.—Still striving for greater effectiveness at the plate, Manager Charley Dressen planned a stiff St. Patrick's Day batting practice for the Cincinnati Reds.

Some data on the diamond performers—Schoolboy Rowe says he'll win more than 20 games...last year he won 19, five of which were from those Yankees....Rowe is only 25, but he's starting his fifth season with the Tigers...the tall boy from Arkansas says he "feels it in his bones" that the Tigers will cop this year....Bill Terry is going in for cattle, on his farm near Memphis....Frank Snyder, Giants' coach, recently bought some blooded mooers for his boss....Jerseys and Herefords. Havana newspapers have been calling the Giants "world champions", and I understand Col. Jake Ruppert is sore enough to sue. ...That Havana beer has been getting a lot of pubillcity, too.

Willis Hudlin, who is building a $40,000 apartment house in Hot Springs, Ark., was a holdout this spring, but his recalcitrance was short-lived...the Cleveland crossfire artist won only one game last year, and that one was the last game he pitched....Paul Trout, Detroit's rival for the honors of Mister Dean (speaking in the dizzy manner), has a curve ball he calls the "goona goon".....Cubans call Carl Hubbell's screw ball "tonilla bola", which probably is equivalent of "darned thing"....Sammy Byrd of the Reds is the best golfer in the majors, though Schoolboy Rowe is pretty hot on the fairways, too.

Catcher Bill Dickey of the Yankees, who signed an $18,000 contract for 1937, got $3,000 per annum when he came up from Little Rock in 1928....Brooklyn continues to set the pace for dizziness...Van Mungo swung so hard at a pitch the other day that he knocked the mask and cap right off Catcher Babe Phelps ...if the blow had been an inch lower, Burleigh Grimes would be looking for a new catcher.

The Dodgers also have a gent without a front name...he's called Luke Hamlin, but the pitcher's parents, who live in Terris Center, Mich., never gave him a name, merely calling him L. D....some sports scribe pinned "Luke" on him...back home he always was known as Curly.... Rookie Jim Tobin of the Yankees is a right hander, but he can throw left handed, too...Rookie Spurgeon Chandler of the Yanks, former Georgia halfback, will coach and teach next fall at Hartwell, Ga., high school...his baseball coach at Georgia was one-armed Bill White.

Half of the Tigers' 14 recruits are native sons of the south....Rudy York is from Georgia; Frank Croucher and Pat McLaughlin, Texas; Gilbert English, North Carolina; George Coffman, Alabama; George Gill, Mississippi, and Paul Sullivan, Tennessee....Jim La Rocca, Yankee recruit pitcher who has spent the early years of his life in Greenwich Village, never has gone on a hunting trip...you understand, of course, we mean for rabbits, bears, rhinos and all that.

Will Eliminate Center Jump For Period Of Year

National College Basketball Coaches' Association Goes On Record

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, March 17.—Elimination of the center jump for one year by the rules committee was considered certain today as the result of the decisive 60 to 9 votes by which the National College Basketball Coaches' Association, in convention here, recommended the action yesterday.

The modification, the same adopted by the Big Ten coaches the first of the week, provides that the center jump be used only at the beginning of the halves and of overtime periods, and after technical and double fouls. At all other times the ball would be put into play behind the end line of the team scored upon.

Braddock Team Is Feted Here

The Braddock Holy Name basketball team under the direction of Father Stifter, formerly of the New Castle hospital, were the guests last night of Rev. Father Joseph Doerr of St. Joseph's church, and the Keystone A. C. at a spaghetti supper following the game at Falcon hall.

Several friends of both teams participated in the party that proved to be very enjoyable. The Braddock team and Rev. Father Stifter feted the New Castle people at Braddock earlier in the year.

The Keystones won the game which evens the series. The third game of the series will be played at Braddock at a later date.

Blind Bowlers Are Feature In ABC Tournament

Reds And Blues Battle It Out On Alleys, Reds Players Are Totally Blind

By GLEN L. BIRCHARD
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, March 17—Boosters, 112 teams of 'em hailing from New York City, North Jersey and Philadelphia, Pa., have an exclusive on the American Bowling Congress tournament alleys here tonight beginning at 6 o'clock and ending at 2 a. m.

Their labors, brilliant as they may be, will not hold a candle to the interest shown last night in the bowling of two teams composed of blind lads from the Lighthouse Welfare Center of New York Association for the blind.

A packed house greeted the blind "blues" and 'reds" and gave the lads plenty of applause for the remarkable way in which they took part in a game that is difficult enough for one in full possession of all faculties.

Blind Man Rolls 196

Members of the "red" team were totally blind. On the "blues" one man was totally blind while the rest had little visibility. The blues finished with a score of 1743 and the reds with 1311. It was the first time a blind team or individual had ever taken part in the A. B. C. classic.

Aiding them in their rolling was Jerry Wood, supervisor of recreation at the Lighthouse. He piloted each one to the ball rack and then to the spot from which he was to start delivery of the ball. Quite a few clean-sweeps of the alleys were made, one pinster, Carl Rice, having two doubles in his last game to hit a fine 196.

Leading scores of the entire night were 2682 by L. and F. Tire Co., of Staten Island, 2672 by Richardson and Boynton of New York City and 2666 by General Electric, of Philadelphia, Pa.

Weather, Ice Stop Meeting

Lawrence County Meeting Scheduled For Last Night, Cancelled

Due to snow and ice covered roads officials yesterday evening called off a meeting of officials and managers of the Lawrence County Baseball league which was scheduled to take place at the Sport Goods store. Several managers had reported their inability to attend owing to jury duty, employment and hazardous driving conditions, hence the cancellation of the session.

However, it was reported that the South Side board of trade probably will have a team in the circuit this season. President Alex Samuels of the circuit is one of the main movers in the South Side trade body. Years ago the South Side had one of the best teams in this section. The team was known as the Terrace A. C.

It was announced today that the meeting probably will be held next week when conditions are more favorable for baseball team representatives from county points to reach the city.

City Leaguers Getting Anxious

Hope To Start City Baseball League First Week In May

City baseball league teams are getting anxious for the big kickoff sometime around the first of May. At the present time there are five teams ready to start the old apple-pounding activity.

Nothing has been heard from the fast Colonial A. C. team of the North Hill. Jesse McCann is trying to get the Colonials together again. The addition of the Colonials will fill the league to capacity.

At the present time there are five fast teams: Sixth Ward Firemen, Ryantown, Colored Elks, Lawrence Indies, and K. Pulaskis. An effort was made to get the Tin Mill boys interested, but so far Alec Black and his Tinners or Steelers if you prefer, have not announced their intentions to join the City league.

It will take a lot of fixing up at several of the City League fields. Considerable help will be given the Pulaski team on the Glasser Field site. The Firemen have a fine field, and so does Ryantown. The Indies will use the Cedar street field.

WEST SIDE MIDGETS

The West Side Midgets baseball team will have an important meeting at the home of Paul Kearns at 6:30 o'clock tonight. The meeting will be for discussion of the coming baseball season. The West Side boys are going after the championship this year.

St. Louis Browns No Longer "Joke" Team Of League

(International News Service)

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., March 17—"While I think the New York Yankees will be the club to beat in this year's American League pennant chase, you can put this down to remember: Nobody's going to be asking if the Browns are still in the league."

That's the double-barreled prediction of Rogers Hornsby, manager of the St. Louis team, at his spring training camp here.

And when the 1937 edition of the Browns trots out on the field opening day, don't be surprised to see the rajah himself, as well as another of baseball's "old timers"—Sunny Bottomley—taking two of the infield posts.

Bottomley at First

Bottomley has been playing a lot of first base at training quarters here, while Hornsby still takes a lusty swing at the pate, besides doing the master minding for the Brown's new owners and covering a big circle around second base.

The Brown's probable starting lineup, not in batting order, will probably include Rollie Hemsley behind the plate; Bottomley or Harry Davis at first base; Gerald Lipscomb at second, if Hornsby decides not to play; Billy Knickerbocker at short; Harlan Clift at third; Joe Vosmik in left; Sam West in center; Beau Pell in right, if he signs, and if not, either Ed Coleman, reserve outfielder who aspires to be a pitcher, or Mel Mazzera, flash with the San Antonio missions of the Texas league last year. Ethan Allen, former Philly and Cub Reserve, is also on deck and ready for outfielder's duty.

Hornsby really doesn't expect to play much second base this year but will hold himself in reserve as utility infielder and pinch hitter, of which there are few better. If he gets to play 30 games and belt a few out of the park, Hornsby will be happy.

Hemsley Back of Plate

Bottomley, listed on the roster as first baseman and coach, can outhit Davis but Harry is younger and covers a bit more ground these days. Hornsby expects Bottomley to play at least 40 games.

Hemsley, one of the fastest catchers in either league, is expected to do big things for the Browns again this year. Tommy Heath obtained from the San Antonio farm a couple of seasons back, is held in high regard by Hornsby and may see considerable service this year behind the plate.

Bell is the only holdout the Browns have to contend with, and he is expected to sign at an increase in salary in a day or two.

Feature Games At 'Y' Tonight

First Presbyterians Fight For Class A Title Deadlock In Game With St. Pauls

CHRISTIANS TO BATTLE EPWORTH

Two feature games will be played in the Church Basketball league at the "Y" tonight. The first game at 8 o'clock will have the First Presbyterians battling the St. Paul's for a deadlock in the Class A league, for the second-half of the season.

If the St. Pauls win they will be the second-half champs of the A league. If the Presbyterians win, it will mean a playoff game.

The second game will have the First Christians and Epworth M. E. team battling in the first of a three-game series for the Church AA league title. The Christians won the first half and the Epworthians the second half. This should be a lively tussle tonight.

The East Siders will be without the services of their star center, Davis, who suffered a sprained ankle in the recent game with the New Wilmington U. P. team. The Christians will bank on Paul Morrison and Miles to bring them through to victory.

Star Milers Race Tonight

Cunningham, Venzke, Romani And Beccali Will Race In New York City

By DAVIS J. WALSH
International News Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, March 17—With the settled air of those cast in long familiar roles, the four pupets of the pine boards—Glenn Cunningham, Archie San Romani, Gene Venzke and Luigi Beccali, of Italy—will do it all over again, possibly the last time as a line up, in the Columbian mile at the annual K. of C. games tonight. All have beaten 4:11 for the distance, All, potentially, can beat Cunningham's world record, 4:08 6-10, made in the same meet several years ago. Probably none of them will.

Walsh Picks Venzke

Now that he has recovered his finishing rush, Cuningham likes to lay off the early pace. So do Venzke and Beccali. As for San Romani, he always lays off the early pace. I trust there's going to be an early pace tonight.

In the event of a misunderstanding, though, we can just as easily wipe out the first 9 1-2 laps and let the field close on the tape from their ordained positions in the usual lap and a half "jump" for the finish. Venzke, for instance, in front by 2 yards; Beccali next, 1 1-2 yards in front of Cunningham, with San Romani 5 yards back of the leader.

PITTSBURGH, March 17.—A 4 to 2 victory here over the Atlantic City Sea Gulls today kept the Yellow Jacket skaters mathematically in the running for a play-off berth in the Eastern Hockey League. Only two more games remain on the jacket's schedule.

Some Lines From Yesteryear

Time heals bitterness and while it may be true that there was a time when Jimmie Dime and Tony Ross were enemies they now are friends. It appears that Dime discovered, taught and managed Ross and later Ross attempted to leave Dime's banner. Jimmie had a contract with Ross and it was only with difficulty that Ross could enter a ring. Tony was a play-boy. No one will dispute this. He fought all the best men of his day in the ring and his ability came from Dime's tutoring. Before Ross gave up boxing he took a trip to England, fought once or twice and was matched to meet Georges Carpentier in Sebastopool, Spain when the World war broke out. The fight was called off. Ross returned to England thence to the United States. Upon his return to New Castle he boxed Dan Dailey in the Humbert hall, winning the decision. At that time Jimmie Dime and practically all of his brigade were campaigning in California. Johnny Hughes and Willard (Scoots) Hood promoted the fight. Hood acted for Dime and seconded Dailey. The writer handled Ross. It was a good fight, one of the best that heavyweights have staged here. No one missed "paying the freight" to witness the scrap. Later Ross came here and was a barman for Bob Laters but he did not stay long. He returned to Pittsburgh. The present whereabouts of Dan Dailey, one of the most liked boxers to have fought under Jimmie Dime's banner is unknown at present. He sustained a severe injury prior to his return here several years ago, when a beam fell in a Pittsburgh plant where Dan was a foreman. His skull was fractured and his sight affected. However, he recovered. About two years ago he left New Castle.

Here is a little poem . . . it came through the mail . . . its title:

"I'VE LOST MY LOVE"

In spring, if history is true
One's thoughts should turn to love,
The birds, the trees and flowers gay,
The breeze and sky above
Should all unite in one clear song
And make me dream of love.

But something seems to be amiss,
I just can't think of love;
I smell the breeze and I can see
The bright blue sky above,
But since you went this time last year
I've lost all sense of love.

The Spring meant, oh, so much to me
When we two were in love,
It seems so long ago, now since
You found your Spring above;
I'm sure my soul died with you then
And with you went my love.

ed his life. He was ignorant of the English language of the customs of the country, he was afraid of Cutrone's wrath."

Concerning the taking of Esposito to Harrisburg instead of delivering him to Sheriff Edward D. Pritchard at Buffalo, Moretti said. "Why did the commonwealth take him all the way from the border at Buffalo to Harrisburg. Why did they take him down to Margiotti's office in Harrisburg. I'll tell you why. They wanted a show".

Attorney D. F. Rendenell of Youngstown, who has been assisting in the defense of Esposito, followed Mr. Moretti. He riddled the idea that the prosecution had a case and asked the jury to recall if it could any evidence tending to show that Esposito was in New Castle at the time of the murder or had anything to do with it.

"The commonwealth has spent a lot of time and money to bring this case before you," said he. "With all the money and means at its command it has failed to make out a case.

District Attorney Mont L. Ailey made the argument for the prosecution. He said that the years that have intervened had removed many of the important witnesses and papers and that the jury should take this into consideration. He asked for a conviction.

No first degree will be considered by the jury. Judge W. Walter Braham announced that there was no evidence of first degree murder and that the jury was to disregard this.

Boro Employes Get Pay Raise

Council Passes Salary Ordinance At Adjourned Session Tuesday Night

FINAL CONTRACTS ARE ALSO AWARDED

ELLWOOD CITY, March 17.—In keeping with the general trend of wages and salary increases throughout the country Ellwood City Borough Council held an adjourned session in the city building Tuesday night and passed a salary ordinance for a general increase of ten per cent for all borough employes.

In a few cases it did not equal ten percent and in others it exceeded it, thus making an average of ten percent.

Pass Contract Resolutions

In compliance with a request from the WPA, council passed two resolutions combining a number of contracts in order to acquire a total figure of which the WPA will pay 45 percent, in the constructing and equipment of the new municipal building. The total for this was $9554.40 which included the contracts for concrete side-walks and grading, Venetian blinds, lighting fixtures, plumbing fixtures, furniture and equipment for the various borough departments such as chairs, office chairs, folding chairs, blue print machine and dryer, carpets, linoleum, railing for the council chamber. The contracts for these have been previously announced.

Another resolution passed by council which included three items and amounted to a total of $3,008.03, the borough will be required to pay for by itself. This included new police cells for which the contract went to the Ellwood City Iron and Wire Company at a bid of $1225; furniture, fixtures and filing equipment to the General Fireproofing Company, of Youngstown, O., whose bid through J. I. Porter of this city was $1618.03; for additional fixtures to the municipal building the Herge Radio and Electric Shop of Ellwood City bid $165. All three equal the above total which the borough must pay alone.

A special committee representing the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, and local citizens appeared before council and made a touching plea to leave the Legion Memorial tablet of war dead of this city in its present place or move it into the new municipal building, instead of transferring it to Legion Memorial Park on Fourth street. Council granted this request.

School Teachers Stage Walkout Near Scranton

(International News Service)

SCRANTON, Pa., March 17—Fifty five teachers in Fell township laid down books, pencils and rulers today and refused to conduct classes, charging that termination of the teacing contracts was an attempt by the school board to violate "tenure rights" to become effective next year. More than 1,700 students were given "vacation."

School officials contended the chief grievance of the striking instructors was based on failure to receive more than four months of back salaries. The school board contends that no funds are available for payment of the teachers.

A statement issued by the strikers after the walkout charged school directors with "purposely" attempting to evade "tenure rights" to become operative in 1938. Two instructors in the Lackawanna county area refused to join the "strike" movement.

Definition-a-Day

"Polytheism" is the doctrine of, or belief in, a plurality of gods.

Formula for a successful marriage. When you leave the altar, don't begin trying to alter one another.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

Laxatives are only makeshifts. A mere bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up". Harmless, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. Stubbornly refuse anything else. 25c.

TOWNSEND GROUP HEARS ADDRESSES

Plans were made to hold the next meeting on Monday evening, March 22, in the Malta hall. Rev. Sam Maitland will have charge of the social portion of the program.

One hundred years ago government land offices in the West were notoriously corrupt and agents sent out from Washington reported many irregularities in bookkeeping, fraudulent land purchases, and defalcations among the men administering the land offices.
